Santa To Arrive In Arlington December 13

The Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring the Christmas activities in keeping with the holiday spirit. The Christmas decorating committee expect the decorations to be completed and the lights turned on by Monday, December 8.

Santa Claus has notified the Chamber that he will arrive in Arlington Heights about 2:30 p. m. Saturday, December 13 and will parade through the business district, escorted by the police and fire departments and the high school band. Refer to the next issue of the Paddock Publications for Santa's route of travel and headquarters, and other details of his visit ending on Tuesday, December 23.

The merchants of Arlington Heights have a complete line of toys and other gifts that will be appreciated at Christmas time. So why not patronize the home town business houses.

Two Dead, 12 Hurt In Seven Mishaps

Edward Laatsch, 23, of 1077 Walter ave., Des Plaines, died as a result of injuries suffered in an accident Sunday, on Wolf rd., south of Central rd., in Maine township. Laatsch's car, traveling south on Wolf, struck a steel sign post and rolled 200 feet.

He and a woman companion, Miss Frances Sednecker, 27, of 5946 Honore st., were thrown from the vehicle 50 feet from the wreckage. Laatsch died at St. Francis hospital. Miss Sednecker died there Tuesday night.

Melvin Wille, 32, of Arlington Heights, was injured Monday, when his car struck a stalled vehicle on route 72, west of Arlington Heights. The operator of the stalled car, Lorraine Huizinga, 34, of Lyons, Illinois, and her companion, Margaret Brennan were also injured. Wille, traveling west on 72, saw Miss Huizinga's car parked at the side of the road, but was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision.

Melvin Landmeier, 22, of 12 S. Dunton st., Arlington Heights, was injured Saturday when his car struck that of Robert E. Welle, 35, of 1733 Orchard ave., Des Plaines, as it was stopped for a stop sign at the intersection of routes 83 and 12. Both cars were traveling northwest.

Three persons were injured in a Thanksgiving day mishap on River rd., south of Touhy. The vehicle driven north on River by Earl R. Cooper, 35, of 234 N. Northwest hwy., Barrington, apparently went out of control and struck a southbound car driven by Charles Bock Jr., of 218 W. Slade, Palatine. Injured were Cooper's companion, Mrs. Francis Kramer, 48, Bock, and Mrs. Ella Bock, 56. All were treated at Westlake hospital.

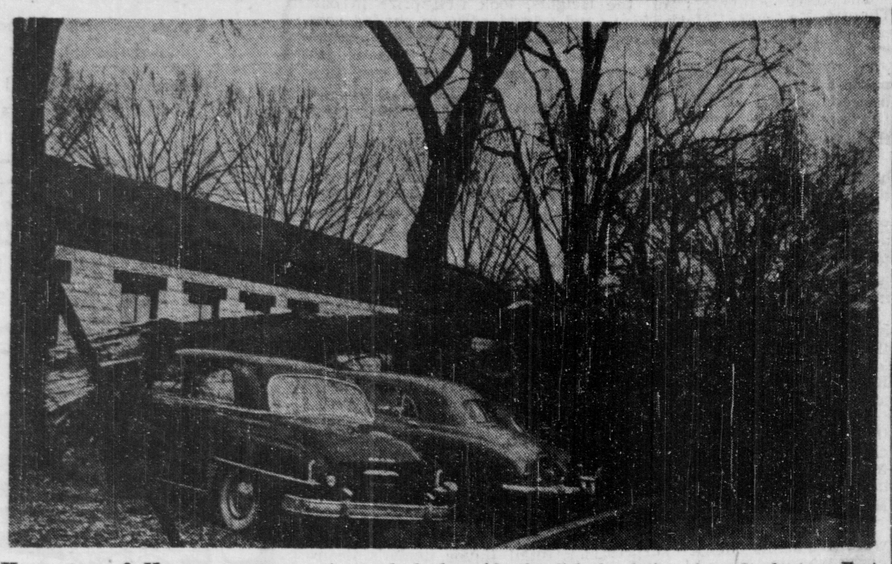
A mother and her daughter were injured Sunday when the car in which they were riding was hit from behind as it stopped for a stop sign at route 83 and Oakton. They were Mrs. Mary Wakat, 27, her daughter, Veronica, 4, of Skokie. Driving was Mrs. Wakat's husband, William, 30. They were struck by a car driven by Elmer Kath, 43, of Des Plaines, who said he was unable to stop in time.

Francis Scroggins, 40, of Wood Dale, was injured Sunday, when his car left the road and ran into a ditch on York rd., near route 72. Also injured was LaVerne G. Scroggins, 37. They were treated at Elmhurst hospital.

Frank Jirsa, 44, of Chicago, was injured last week when his car was struck by a North Western railroad train at the crossing of route 72. A witness, George Pluhar of Westchester, said Jirsa's car proceeded through the intersection after the signal had flashed. The train crew was unaware of the accident until the train reached the Bensenville yards.

Palatine Will Not Oppose Kimball Hill Rezoning

The Palatine plan commission has recommended to the village board that no objection be filed to the rezoning of the Kimball Hill project south of the race track.



Huge tree fell across seven autos parked alongside the Grigsby-Allison branch plant on Eastman st., Arlington Heights, during the terrific wind storm November 26. The impact was so great it completely flattened the springs on several of the cars. —Folkman Photo.

High Winds Cause Damage In Arlington, Wheeling, Palatine

Employees of the Grigsby-Allison auxiliary plant at Eastman and Evergreen, Arlington Heights, are thankful the big tree blown down Wednesday morning landed on cars in place of the roof of the factory building.

Seven employees, whose cars felt the impact, regretted the damage to their property, but joined the others in expressions of thankfulness that no one was injured.

"It might have been a different story," said Mrs. Schwolow, 318 W. Slade st., Palatine, "if the tree had come down on the building."

THE CARS DAMAGED were lined up on Eastman st. curb. Owners and extent of damage is as follows:

A. H. Schwolow, Palatine, 1950 Dodge, damage $54; A. F. Miller, 411 S. Hale, Palatine, 1948 Kaiser, $300; A. L. Klaslo, 956 Illinois, Arlington Heights, 1950 Chevrolet, badly wrecked; P. Weinrich, 825 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, 1948 Chevrolet, $250; George Pfingsten, 436 S. Evergreen, 1938 Willys; H. Villereal, Palatine; J. Green, 486 Rose ave., Des Plaines.

Comprehensive insurance was carried only on a few of the cars.

The car rescuers did their job by removing a limb at a time from the heavy tree trunk.

AN ALUMINUM building, 85 feet long, and 30 feet wide, used as a shelter for auto auctions by the Lee Motorcraft Co., Milwaukee ave., Wheeling, was blown over by what Troy Lee, owner of the company, said was "an 80-mile per hour gust of wind." It was broken in several pieces.

The building, which was erected five years ago at a cost of $2,000, was destroyed. Lee says they are salvaging as much of the material as possible in the erecting of a new shelter.

TWO HOUSES under construction in the Northwest Acres subdivision, west of Palatine, were also victims of the high winds. Norbert Laskowski, who was building a house on W. Hellen rd., had the frame work up and ready for sheathing. The wind tore the framework loose and piled it up like match sticks. Neighbors rallied to Laskowski's aid Sunday morning and helped him clean up the debris and pile it in the basement foundation. They then sealed it with tar paper, which will keep it dry until Laskowski can start rebuilding in the spring.

The other home did not suffer as much damage, as it had most of the sheathing on the frame when the wind struck. However, the second floor peaks and roof trusses were torn loose and thrown to the ground. The house is being built by J. R. Walkinshaw, building contractor.

Other damage done by the wind was not too serious, although a big timber blew off the top of the Arlington Elevator silos on Northwest hwy., and could have caused considerable damage had an auto been going by at the time. A telegraph pole east of Creamery Package co., Arlington Heights, also snapped off during the storm. Many plate glass windows were also smashed.

And You Can't Live Without 'Em

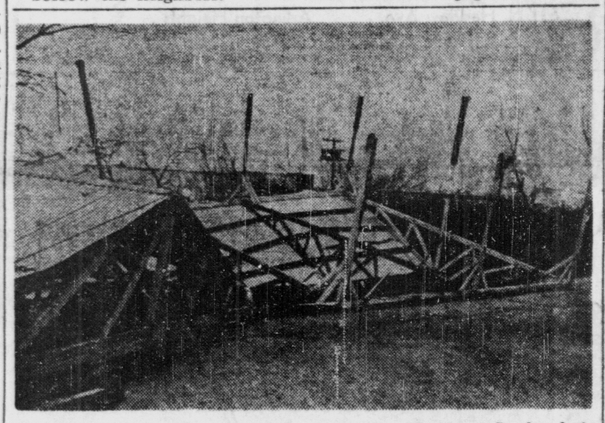
Newspapers are like women, because—they both have forms— back numbers are not in demand—they always have the last word—they are all well worth looking over—they have a great deal of influence—you can't believe all they say—there's small demand for the bold face type—every man should have one of his own and not borrow his neighbors.

Construction Of Arlington Postoffice Building Resumed

Manufacturers of post office equipment purchased by the postal department for the new Arlington Heights office have started shipments. If the building is not completed by January 15, it will not be the fault of Uncle Sam.

Notices were mailed this week to holders of the larger boxes notifying them of their new box numbers. The greater part of the equipment now in use is the property of the owner of the present building. The owner of the new building only furnishes the quarters. All postal equipment must be furnished by the government.

Construction of the future post office has proceeded to a point that an excellent idea as to its general appearance is possible. The building is more preposing than it was on paper.



Wind turned this canopied salesroom at Troy Lee's Auto Auction, Wheeling, topsy-turvy, last week, Wednesday, when gales were estimated between 70 and 80 miles an hour. The 85 foot long structure had siding on and was connected to the house and barn. A car, parked 30 or 40 feet away from the building is buried under the debris. —Folkman Photo.

Fire Calls In 30 Day Period Cost $1,259

This has been a busy fall for Arlington Heights volunteer firemen, who had 47 fire calls between October 16 and November 16. Forty-two of these were in the village and cost tax payers $1,259.

An abandoned farm house on Kirchhoff rd. and a trailer in Arlington Trailer park were complete losses due to fire this past week. The Arlington department answered both calls, but the fires had gained too much headway to save the structures.

The farm house was owned by Max Miller, and arson was determined as the cause. A full report appears elsewhere in this issue.

A FAULTY stove is named as the cause of the trailer fire. It was owned by the Fred Smiths, who have one son. The family lost everything, including their clothing.

The trailer fire occurred the night of November 26 and the farm burned early Thanksgiving morning.

The fire department answered a second call at the trailer park Monday morning, when a stove exploded in the Pigg trailer. No serious damage resulted.

Assistant Fire Chief Marvin Rodewald appeared before the village board Tuesday night to suggest some action be taken to replace the 1928 Seagrave fire engine. He told the board that the new engine was being used for the bulk of the fire calls, and that a second engine was really a necessity since the town has grown so rapidly.

Arlington Heights Paper Drive Saturday

The second Boy Scout paper drive of the season will be made in Arlington Heights Saturday, December 6. A "cowbell parade" will be held Friday evening by assigned Cub dens as a reminder to collect old newspapers and magazines and tie them into easy-to-handle bundles. Collection will start at 9:00 a. m. Saturday.

The next drive will be the first Monday in February.

Citizens Committee Discuss Managerial Form of Government

The general citizens committee of Arlington Heights are meeting at the north school as this edition goes to press to discuss the managerial form of government. This is the third meeting of this committee in recent weeks, during which other community matters were considered.

Similar meetings are being held in neighboring towns. A public mass meeting called by the Palatine village board was held Tuesday evening. Des Plaines is considering similar action.

In lieu of a city manager, Arlington Heights village board may appoint a superintendent of public works, whose qualifications and duties will be somewhat similar to those of a city manager.

Four Grateful Parents Thank Those Who Aided Search For Sons

Two Palatine families enjoyed their Thanksgiving dinner probably more than any others in Palatine. Their sons, who were missing from school dismissal until near midnight two days earlier were around their respective tables.

The parents express their thanks in this week's Fence Post in section four of this issue.

The boys, only 10 years old, receive their instructior in a school on Ela road, maintained by the Palatine Consolidated school. A country wide search in which several hundred persons participated, was continued until 11:30 p. m. when the boys were found in Park Ridge by the police of that city.

Decision on New Shopping Center To Be Reached This Week

The Zoning Board of Appeals is expected to meet this week to place the finishing touches upon their recommendations in regard to proposed State road shopping center. Its members have held several conferences. That report will be presented to the village board December 16 when it will be made public.

Burn Home; Fail In Attempt To Burn School Head's Home

Three Arlington Heights boys and a Des Plaines visitor from Kansas are in the hands of law authorities charged with disorderly conduct, malicious mischief, arson and attempted arson.

They are James H. Griffith, Richard Hoffman, Vern Richmeier, all of Arlington Heights, and Benedict Dreiling, 1516 Van Buren st., Des Plaines.

Griffith has confessed to taking part in the burning November 27 of an unoccupied farm house, west of Wilke rd., Arlington Heights, throwing a lighted railroad fuse through a front window of the residence of LeRoy J. Knoeppel, principal of Arlington Heights township high school and damaging two Crosley cars.

Griffith admits that all these deeds were done between midnight and 3:50 Thanksgiving morning. The boys were taken to Evanston Tuesday morning for lie detector tests where they admitted that in recent weeks they had thrown stones through the windows of Herman Hinz Co., Kensington road, the Curtis gas station, Northwest highway, a number of the Besinger homes and the residence of O. Kolb, 211 St. James, a teacher in the St, Peter Lutheran school.

"IT WAS A lucky pinch," said Officer McDougall, who with Sgt. Jahnke were answering the call from the Knoeppel home when they saw three boys running around the Poole garage. They picked the boys up on suspicion that they were in mischief.

The squad car continued to the Knoeppel residence where they found that a lighted fuse had been thrown through a window in the dining room. Mr. Knoeppel was out of town. Mrs. Knoeppel, when awakened, called the police, stating that prowlers were outside of her house. Fortunately the impact with two windows had extinguished the lighted end of the fuse, otherwise a fire might have started.

THE BOYS LOCKED up for questioning, denied everything for a time, but through Dreiling, the visitor from Kansas, evidence was presented to the culprits which brought Griffith's confession. His only alibi was that he and his companions had been drinking and did not know what they were doing.

The story of the confession starts at 7:30 p.m. when Griffith left home. The boys bowled at Wood Dale, where they had several bottles of beer. Their next stop was at a tavern on Irving Park rd., then a place on route 83 and Rand rd. where they partook of food, leaving there after midnight.

Using gasoline and matches, they set fire to the farm house on Kirchhoff rd., west of Wilke, leaving the scene at once. Their next stop was at the home of John Cordaro, 1016 W. Euclid where they overturned a Crosley car.

Arriving at the Poole sales lot, they pushed a Crosley over the embankment onto a side track. Griffith said that Richmeier and Hoffman participated with him in these acts. Dreiling drove the car.

THEIR FINAL act for the night was the arson attempt of the Knoeppel home. The boys were originally released to their parents, but were placed on $500 bond Monday evening by Judge Neuman, after Chief Skoog asked for a continuance for further investigation.

The investigation started immediately and within a half hour the story of the burning of the farm house was admitted by Griffith.

The boys will appear before Judge Neumann Tuesday afternoon. The seriousness of the charges may mean a transfer of the case to the criminal court building.

ROGER LAUBAUGH, 17, Arlington Heights, has posted a $50 cash bond that he will appear before Judge Neumann Monday night to answer to the charge of the theft of a horn rim steering wheel from a sport model Ford, owned by Howard H. Witenberg, 729 So. Beverly, Arlington Heights.

His apprehension was a bit of deduction on the part of Lt. Karstens of the local police. Mrs. Witenberg reported her loss to the police November 13 which was a day or two after Roger had endeavored to buy from a local garage a missing part on a similar wheel in his own car.

When Karstens discovered that Lauburgh's car had a steering wheel similar to the one stolen, he picked up the boy for questioning and obtained a confession. Roger claimed that it was only after he had been unable to buy a damaged part on his own steering wheel that he saw a complete wheel on the other car. He could not resist the temptation.

For several years this annual event has been attended by an overflow crowd, and Fred C. Schmoyer, head of the music department, thinks this year's program will be even better than previous ones.

In addition to vocal and instrumental numbers involving most of the students in the department, the band front class is preparing dance numbers to be included in the program, and the art department is at work on settings.

Arlington Accountant's Income Tax Guide In National Circulation

E. F. Laurin, 700 S. Beverly, Arlington Heights, has issued an income tax guide that is unusually informative. He has previously published tax and interest finders for use of public accountants, banks and those who make a business of filling out income tax schedules for others. These have found a ready sale the last three years.

The new tax guide that he has placed on the market for 50 cents is written in simple understandable language that will enable any private individual to either fill out his own schedule or to satisfy himself as to the correctness of the schedule that is filed in his behalf.

Mr. Laurin says in his preface, "the supreme court has held that every tax payer owes a duty to himself to pay the lowest income tax possible." The Laurin tax guide explains the possible exemptions and procedures that would entitle the tax payer the greatest savings.

After the tax payer determines the total of his legal exemptions, a slide rule gives the tax answer.

While Mr. Laurin is the author of the booklet, the National Research Bureau, Inc., is the publisher. The guide, which can easily fit into a coat pocket, is being nationally distributed through news stands and book sellers. It can also be purchased from Arlington Tax Finders, Arlington Heights.

Palatine Methodists Hold Open House Sunday For New Addition

Palatine Methodist church has accomplished an almost miracle in the manner in which its building committee and its members have handled the $65,000 addition that will be ready for the open house Sunday afternoon.

The unusual things are the speed with which the building has been constructed, seven months, and the financial plan under which the addition was built. There is no bonded indebtedness. A construction loan arranged by Mr. Plew of the First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Des Plaines provided the additional funds needed above the cash subscriptions. Pledges were solicited on a two year basis and there is no doubt that by February 1954 the church will be entirely free from debt.

T. Westeberg, a builder, himself, acted as correlating agent between the various trades engaged in the construction work, each under its own contract.

Residents of neighboring towns are invited to attend the open house between two and five o'clock Sunday afternoon.

November Building Totals $842,870

Fred Hammer, Arlington Hts. building commissioner, announced the totals for November building permits at the village board meeting Tuesday night. Permits issued totaled $842,870.

This includes permits for 32 single family dwellings, $432,500; five private garages, $4,420; two schools, $356,000; five stores, $33,000; four additions to housekeeping dwellings, $15,750, and one alteration to a non-residential building, $1,200.

Palatine To Welcome Santa In A Big Way Saturday Afternoon

The Palatine Chamber of Commerce will present its annual Christmas festival Saturday, December 6.

It promises to be the most spectacular and largest that this northwest suburb has seen.

The starting time of the parade will be 2:00 p. m. with entries totaling 35 consisting of floats, baton twirlers, the Palatine high school band, American Legion Guard of Honor, National Guard Unit, and, of course, the climax, "Santa Claus."

Santa will arrive by airplane, weather permitting, from the North Pole and will board his float at the corner of South Northwest highway and route 53.

The president of the Palatine high school student council, Miss Marguerite Svensson and her two ladies in waiting, Miss Lynn Lommen and Miss Lois Lukey will precede Santa in the parade.

Board, Plan Commission To Meet, Discuss Master Plan

A date was set at the Arlington Heights village board meeting Tuesday night for the board to meet with the planning commission to discuss the master plan report recently accepted by the village.

The men will meet December 9 at the village hall. It is contemplated that the master report will be divided into sections, with sub-committees of trustees and plan commission members serving on the various committees to study that particular phase of the plan. They will then come up with recommendations as to what part of the plan should be put into effect first. Parking, street widening and lighting will probably receive first considera-tion.

PERMISSION WAS given to Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce to use the village hall as Santa's headquarters this year. He will be in town December 13.

New police cars will be advertised for and bids will be opened at the January 6 meeting.

Trustee William Gerbosi, recently appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Trustee Harry Robinson, was appointed co-chairman of the finance, judiciary and assessment committee. He will also serve as chairman of the sanitation and drainage committee. These offices were held by Robinson.

E. L. Trendel, who sought two building permits for tri-level homes to be built in the Scarsdale subdivision, was denied the permits. The board's decision was based on the rejection of the building commission, who told the board the architectural committee found the homes would not fit in with the architectural design of the homes already in the area. Plans and specifications for the home met with all other phases of the building code.

Business Construction, But Little Home Building

Fred Hammer, Arlington Hts. building commissioner, issued permits this week for five stores to be erected by Arthur Jacobs on the Northwest highway.

Residential permits are almost nil, although thirty were issued during November.

From inquiries made by a local architect it appears that he has received orders to prepare plans for a large garage to be built on the Northwest highway, east of the Pet Milk plant.

Anthony Koske is building a filling station in connection with his garage on Northwest highway and Kasper.

Building operations at the Big Freeze means the erection of a storage room and enlargment of the kitchen.

Practically all Arlington Heights stores starting December 10 will be open all day Wednesdays until Christmas. They will be open every evening, starting Saturday, Dec. 13.

There are approximately 300 more families in the Arlington Heights shopping area this year than in 1952. The stores have additional stocks to meet the extra demand and are bubbling over with Christmas goods.

FFA TO HOLD PARENTS' NIGHT DECEMBER 9

Parents of Future Farmers of America are invited to a parents' night at Arlington Heights high school Tuesday, December 9. The program will begin at 8 p. m.

Highlights of the program include the formal initiation of 15 boys into the Green Hand Degree. A short business meeting will be conducted to demonstrate the group's proficiency in parliamentary procedure.

Schaumburg Plans For $143,000 New School

Schaumburg came one step closer to its goal for a new modern school last Wednesday evening when the board of education of Community Consolidated District 54 selected a plan for the proposed building from several studies submitted by the architects for the board.

Early this year residents of Schaumburg township expressed a desire to detach from Unit District 250 and signed petition necessary to start court action for that purpose.

After the detachment proceedings were concluded in the county court, elections were held resulting in the formation of a Community Consolidated School District including all of the territory in Schaumburg township except that part formerly belonging to District 43½. The same territory was attached to the Palatine high school district for high school purposes.

Almost as soon as the new school district was formed, the board of education began to look for possible school sites and plan for a new school building. The Board employed Paul Schweickher, of the firm of Schweickher and Elting, as its architect and met with their architect many times to discuss details of the size and type of building needed by the district.

The final decision selecting a plan for a four classroom building with an additional multi-purpose room was reached at the last meeting of the board. The architect was directed to prepare larger sized drawings of the floor plan and elevation for use in reporting to residents of the district at a public meeting. It is expected that an announcement of the date and place of this meeting will be made in next week's paper.

The board of education is advised that the cost of such a building will be approximately $143,000 and a site on the north side of Schaumburg rd., slightly over a half mile east of Roselle rd., which the board believes to be the most suitable, will cost $7,300.

The board has called a special election for Saturday, Dec. 20, 1952, to vote on the selection of a school site and bond issues to purchase the site and to build the new school building. A notice of this special election and the details of the propositions to be voted upon appear elsewhere in this issue.

Named Biology Chairman At Science And Math Teacher's Meeting

Nelson Lowry, head of the science department of Arlington Heights high school, was named chairman of the biology section of the Central Association of Science and Math Teachers at the organization's annual meeting, November 28 and 29.

Lowry is also a member of the policy and resolutions committee of the organization.

The meeting, which was held at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago, had as its theme the teaching of conservation practices. Of considerable interest to the local delegates was the display of books and teaching aids, which included the products of most publishers in the field.

Attending the meeting along with Lowry were Alvin Kulieke, chemistry teacher; Roderick McLennan, math; Carl Nelson, science; John Hookum, head of the math department; and Robert Kemman, biology.

Post Office Asks Cooperation In Christmas Rush

Postmaster Virginia Dodge believes a word or two to the wise will help make Christmas as merry as it should be.

"The 1952 Christmas season," she said today, "is officially underway.

"Here at the post office, we have an enormous job to do. Naturally, our main concern is the delivery of all gift packages and Christmas cards by December 25.

"There's about 154 million people in this country today. More than ever before. More people, more Christmas mail. This means of course, that a helping hand from the public really is necessary.

"So it's a pleasure for me to explain what can be done. As for the post office, we're getting all set to do a good job!"

LAST-MINUTE special delivery mail will be distributed December 25 in town. But not in rural areas. All business firms are requested to withhold circular and catalogue mail, and to post their regular correspondence by 4:00 p. m. each day, during the critical month of December.

Time of mailing is especially important, and the earlier the better. The postmaster emphasized it is "everybody's business" to follow this time-table for all Christmas mailings:

Mail Parcel Post:
By Dec. 1 for overseas.
By Dec. 15 for out-of-state.
By Dec. 20 for local delivery.
Mail Christmas Cards:
By Dec. 1 for overseas.
By Dec. 20 for out of state.
By Dec. 21 for local delivery.

After Dec. 1, all gifts going abroad should be sent by air parcel post and all Christmas cards by air mail.

RESIDENTS ARE urged to visit the post office this week, while the crowds are still small, and buy all those extra stamps. Stock up on supplies of sturdy cardboard, strong cord, wrapping paper, and parcel post labels. Then mail gift packages two or three at a time.

Heights Student Takes First Place In Sectional Grain Show

Berwyn Rascher, Arlington Heights, took first prize in oats and second prize in shelled corn in last week's sectional vocational-ag grain show. This is the second year in a row that Berwyn has won first place in oats.

Shelled corn samples were submitted by 43 boys in competition for ten place ribbons. Five of these ribbons were won by students and last year's graduates of Arlington Heights high school. The samples were from corn raised by these students this summer.

Other local winners were Herbert Reckamp, 3rd; Michael Horcher, 5th; Kenneth Reckamp, 7th; and Don Wille, 10th.

The section from which entries were drawn extends north to the state line and west to Belvidere.

Local vocational-ag activities are directed by J. D. Bryson, vocational-ag teacher at the high school.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Card playing, always a popular pastime, is fast becoming an organized one in Arlington Heights. Bridge tournaments—really "round robins"—in which a group of partners while away many an afternoon or evening competing with each other are important events on many local people's calendars.

The granddaddy of tournaments is Scarsdale's, which has become so large that more than one league is necessary. Their year's finale pits the winners of each league against each other to choose the grand winners.

The Newcomer's club has adopted a similar program with 16 couples, which—augmented by eight additional couples and replacements for those who have dropped out—is now in its third season. The members of the tournament are, of course, no longer newcomers and now call themselves the Heighters. They award their prizes at an annual potluck dinner and—that's right—bridge game.

Last year the Sherwood Improvement association adopted a similar technique for entertainment and helping new neighbors get acquainted, and they're now in their second season of playing cards together. Sherwoodians play their final round at a party when all couples are together.

The PTA, with its tremendous membership, was not content with just one round-robin when members began playing bridge in competition with each other this year. They began the year with one afternoon and two evening groups and were adding more. The players not only enjoy themselves but also contribute to the PTA treasury each time they compete.

With the number of round robins in existence plus the number of individuals who play informally in clubs or with another couple, it seems safe to say that bridge playing is one of Arlington folks' favorite ways to pass an afternoon or evening.

Holiday Ideas

Members of Arlington Heights Woman's club who may be short of gift ideas or plans for holiday decorations can count themselves lucky for this Friday the art study group of the club will hold an all-day workshop to help them out.

Meeting at the field house from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., visiting members will learn something of china painting from Mrs. Joseph Lohr, chairman of the study group, and Mrs. John Kehe will at the same time show her original Christmas decorations.

Those who spend the day at the field house are asked to bring their lunches, but if they have but an hour they're sure to find it worthwhile to stop in even for that short time.

850 Attend Annual Ball

More than 850 people danced to the music of Bill Walker and his Pump room orchestra at the annual Thanksgiving ball at the Elmhurst Country club last Friday night.

The dance, sponsored by the Evening guild of St. John Episcopal church, Mount Prospect, was attended by local residents and by people from many surrounding towns. Proceeds of the affair are earmarked for the building fund of the proposed new church.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Haynsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Willard N. Nelson, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Walter Weiser, hosts and hostesses of the dance.

A number of pre-dance parties were held in members' homes including the following: Mr. and Mrs. Forrest E. Blose, Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Baumgartner, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Stark and Mr. and Mrs. J. Rohner, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Corn, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Plambeck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pratt, all of Arlington Heights. Lt. Col. and Mrs. Fred K. Gurni of Great Falls, Mont., were host and hostess for 30 guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Miles III.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Vavra, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gerrard, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Wendling, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Edgcumbe and Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Brownell, all of Mount Prospect, also entertained guests before the dance.

Prospect Heights residents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan R. Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Heineman, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Lambert also entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred B. Colmar and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis H. Parson entertained at the Parsons home in Prospect Heights.

This occasion gave Mr. and Mrs. A. Bernard Wood of Arlington Heights an opportunity to show their recently acquired portrait of Mrs. Wood to friends at cocktails before the dance. The painting by William H. Mosley, Wilmette artist, was recently exhibited on Michigan ave. at the Chicago galleries. (AM

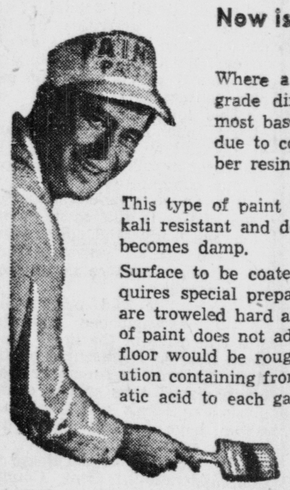
Advice To The Home Owner:

Now is the time to paint that Basement Floor



Where a concrete floor is laid below grade directly on the ground as in most basements, and where dampness due to condensation is prevalent, rubber resin-base paint is suggested.

This type of paint is not a "Cure-all" but is alkali resistant and does not soften when the floor becomes damp.

Surface to be coated with rubber base paint requires special preparation in that cement floors are troweled hard and smooth. Because this type of paint does not adhere well to smooth surfaces, floor would be roughened by etching with a solution containing from one pint to one quart muriatic acid to each gallon of water.

Come In

We stock this type of paint so let us give you full details on floor preparations.

POETRY TAKES A HIKE

by ELOISE D. FINK

If you see a field full of notebooks, pencils, and a couple dozen intellectual-looking people, don't look for a flying saucer. It's just an eighth grade class out on a poetry hike.

The poetry hike began on one of those clear days this autumn when the trees caught the sun and there was the smell of smoke from a bonfire somewhere. The class had been studying the techniques of government, elections, and propaganda enthusiastically for a few weeks, but no paragraph or panel discussion seemed as interesting as the windows looking outside. On my desk there was a poem about beautiful, everyday things by Rupert Brooke which some of you may remember from your own English class. Toward the end of the period I read parts of the poem, and students added lists of their own likes. They found examples for each of the five senses.

THE NEXT DAY we read more poems, not necessarily emphasizing the rhyme because its appeal is strongest at the nursery level. This time we found comparisons in the poetry—comparisons which you probably learned to call similes and metaphors in high school. In discussing ways poetry comparisons help us describe things, someone remembered, "The Lord is my shepherd." Sometimes Jesus even used comparisons to make parables about a mustard seed or the light of the world. A boy volunteered to read St. Paul's comparison of the clanging gong and the tinkling cymbal. We tried making a few comparisons; they were rather simple ones at first, like: the lights are like ice cube trays or egg cartons, or, her eyes were as large as the pumpkins out in the field.

That was the time to take notebooks, pencils, and eighth graders outside. Everyone in class made several sentence-poem comparisons. Here are some.

The blowing cotton weeds looked like bubbles coming out of a bubble blower. The stars in the sky at night look like somebody threw a handful of dimes into the sky. The sight of apples on the tree are like many suns. The candle flickered like a ballerina tossing her hair. The aerial looks like stick people fixing a roof. The earth looks like a huge hand; Mars looks like another hand and the sun is a huge head; the whole solar system is the figure of God. Dead leaves on the ground snap and pop like your ears when you are up in an airplane. I stared at the wallpaper in some way and I thought of a broken record; it kept repeating itself.

We discussed which comparisons were most interesting and why. Some of the most accurate were not the most interesting. Each class member designed autumn leaves, wrote his best comparisons upon them, and tacked them to a Poet Tree. Later the paper leaves were ceremoniously burned with marshmallows to toast. New comparisons were then used in stories and later in Thanksgiving prayers, but one of the most important learning experiences came more subtly. It encouraged gradual discovery of linking-thinking, whether it be in poetry comparisons or in mathematical ratio comparisons.

The poetry hike was valuable. Even when we returned to our study of government, elections, and propaganda, one alert member of the class pointed out that a "false analogy" was an interesting comparison—but not a very accurate one.

TV NEWS

Don Hager

Another significant event in the history of television occurred recently when CBS officially opened its $45,000,000 Television City in Hollywood.

The amount of money poured into the making of this most expensive and largest television center in the world means two things to us: that television is on the verge of becoming the No. 1 influence over the entertainment world and that the needle of television superiority is moving across the dial from New York to Hollywood.

In moving to Hollywood, television would have the benefit of all the know-how of the chaps who make our movies (and what is TV but movies in the living room?) and of all the artists who are old hands in front of cameras who live in the sunny clime of Southern California and wouldn't move away from the area for scads of TV money if it meant going to New York.

And one of the far-reaching facets of the new TV city is that all the studios have been erected with an eye to film so that in the future even the most out-of-the-way cities (speaking of course, of those off the beaten micro-wave path) will have TV stations with access to all Major programs via that good medium of taped shows. Ah, this television! . . . what could be nicer for Christmas than a television set for the family . . . something that every member of the family can enjoy in the home. Come in today and see our wide selection of fine TV sets . . . featuring the CAPEHART, HALLICRAFTER, and other fine new models at DON HAGER'S TV & APPLIANCE. 11 W. Davis st., Arlington Heights. Invite Public To Hear Speech Contest Winners

Winners of the "Voice of Democracy" contest sponsored by the Wheeling township Jaycees will be heard Friday, December 5, at the Arlington Heights field house, at 8 p. m. The general public is invited.

Bruno Waara, president of the chapter, stated, "The Jaycees are proud of these young people. They cannot help but inspire us all with a renewed faith in the future of America. Our chapter is proud of its part in bringing these young people to the attention of the community. We sincerely hope that our adult citizens will not pass up the opportunity to hear our 'Voice of Democracy' speakers."

TOM BOWERSOX, first place contest winner, will not be present to deliver his speech since he is a member of the basketball squad, which will be playing at LaGrange. However, a disc recording of his speech will be played. This is the disc which will be sent on to be entered in the state contest.

Joan Prouty, Kay Bressner and Carol Glaeser, the other winners, will present their speeches in person. The prizes contributed by RCA, Grigsby-Allison, Shelkop Electric, Master Electric, Arlington Radio and Record shop and the Wheeling Jaycees, will be presented at the program. Mrs. Bowersox will accept the prize for her son, Tom.

The evening's program will also include songs by the barber shop quartet, under the leadership of Joe Bryson.

The final portion of the program will be a talk by Ted Seiler entitled, "The Permanent Revolution."

Shoot Buck Deer

An unknown hunter or hunters killed a deer on the Chiverstone farm south of Crystal Lake last Sunday afternoon but fled without taking the animal with them. Fred W. Kirchoff, county conservation official of Crystal Lake, was called and went to the farm immediately.

The buck was a beauty and weighed 175-200 pounds and was shot several times with ordinary pheasant or rabbit shot, one charge entering the heart and bringing the animal down. Rudolph Koenig, who lives on the farm, said that he heard shooting about 5 that afternoon and hurried to the back acreage of the farm where he found the 6-point buck. He then notified officials.

Now's the time when it gets a little difficult to think of something different or a bit unusual to select for a gift. The Bounty Fair on Northwest hwy. in Palatine has received two new items which I think are really novel gifts. First there's the hand-painted black board in Pennsylvania Dutch or other designs . . . so perfect for a kitchen or entrance. And then there's the portable hand-painted desk with a slate top and drawer . . . ideal for any youngster. Mrs. Shanklin also has wood burning and leather craft sets, doctor and nurse sets and lots of other new toys and games.

And dont' forget . . . the Bounty Fair is open daily from 9:15 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings until 9. You can still place your order for personalized or regular Christmas cards at the Bounty Fair.

How about that gift list? Is every name checked off . . . or are there still quite a few "problem" presents to be attended to. Why not stop in at Flaherty Jewelers where there are countless items that would make lovely gifts. They even carry Sunbeam deep fryers and coffeemasters . . . either one of which would make a very much appreciated gift for the whole family. Select from a variety of wallets, rings and watches for both men and women . . . clocks . . . coffee and tea service sets . . . and for the men there are cuff link and tie clasp sets ranging in price from $1 to $17.50. One set features a diamond studded tie clasp and cuff links. And of course Flaherty's carry Trifari jewels . . . a gift to be cherished by every woman.

Flaherty's convenient lay-away plan makes buying something nice for that special person so much easier. By paying a small amount each week, you don't even realize that the gift that seemed so expensive is already paid for. So why not buy that watch or ring today?

There's a galaxy of bright, gay toys awaiting your inspection at Winkelman's Tire and Battery Shop, 115 E. Davis st. Any of them would make a youngster's eyes sparkle Christmas morning. Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

Savory, spicy and satisfying are three adjectives which aptly describe the recipe for Italian Short Ribs shared with us this week by Mrs. Charles Opela of 1520 N. State rd., Arlington Hts.

This delicious Italian dish is a meal-in-one. Short ribs and onions are browned thoroughly and then cooked in a sauce which combines vinegar, tomato paste, water and celery, and is flavored with chopped garlic, worcestershire sauce, prepared mustard, sugar and salt.

The sauce, which is thick, is served over Rigitoni noodles, and its spicy yet sweet flavor compliments the taste of the noodles and short ribs. When served, parmesan cheese is sprinkled on top.

Mrs. Opela suggests the possibility of substituting spareribs for the short ribs, and shell noodles can be used in place of the Rigitoni noodles.

As an accompaniment for Italian Short Ribs, Mrs. Opela usually serves a tossed salad, lightly sprinkled with parmesan cheese, and hard rolls.

You'll find that this hearty dish will be especially appealing to the man in your house.

A busy mother of two, Randy, 6, a first grade student at Wilson school, and Todd, who will be 1 year old this month, Mrs. Opela also participates in several outside activities.

She is program chairman for the Wilson school PTA, and teaches Sunday school and sings in the choir at the First Presbyterian church. Both she and her husband are members of the Village Theatre. Mr. Opela is an employee of Paddock Publications.

Italian Short Ribs

2 to 3 pounds beef short ribs, cut into serving pieces.
2 tablespoons fat.
1 medium-sized onion, chopped.
1 clove garlic, chopped fine.
¼ cup vinegar.
2 tablespoons sugar.
1 can tomato paste,
1 cup water.
3 tablespoons worcestershire sauce.
1 teaspoon prepared mustard.
½ cup diced celery.
2 teaspoons salt.

Melt fat in heavy skillet and brown short ribs with onion. After thoroughly browned, add the chopped garlic and cook a few minutes longer. Then add the remainder of the ingredients.

Cover and cook slowly for two hours, or until meat is tender. Serve over Rigitoni noodles. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese. Serves 6 to 8 people.

The bride wore a white slipper satin gown fashioned with an illusion neckline trimmed with seed pearls, long pointed sleeves and a long train. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a satin cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a star shaped bouquet of white carnations with an orchid center.

Miss Darlene Curtis of Arlington Heights was the maid of honor. She wore a mauve taffeta gown fashioned with a boat neckline, fitted bodice and full skirt, and she carried a star shaped bouquet of yellow pompons.

The Misses Marilyn and Jo Ann Schulze of Bensenville and Miss Vera Krezan of Arlington Heights were the bridesmaids. They wore green taffeta gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. The bridesmaids carried star shaped bouquets of bronze pompons.

The bride's mother wore a teal blue dress of lace over taffeta with black accessories and a corsage of deep red roses, and the mother of the groom wore a dress of navy blue lace over pink taffeta with a corsage of pink carnations.

Jim Luebking of Bensenville was the best man. Bill Morler of Des Plaines, Ronold Meier of Marengo and Kenneth Oldenburg of Indianapolis, Ind., brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

AAUW Aids Foreign Girls

In a combination role of sponsor, foster parent, and college dean to 54 women students from 20 countries, the American Association of University Women today announced it will spend an estimated $123,000 in 1952-53.

Mrs. Morton Collins, fellowship chairman of the northwest suburban branch of AAUW, joins more than 1,000 fellowship chairmen in AAUW branches from coast to coast in a drive for funds to maintain the fellowship and international study grants program during 1953-54. The northwest suburban branch will contribute to this program by sponsoring the Des Plaines Theater Guild's production, "Papa Is All," Thursday and Friday evenings, Dec. 11 and 12, at Rand Park guild room in Des Plaines.

This is the seventh year the association has provided international grants under a program established to give women from abroad training for constructive service in their homelands and also to further international understanding. International grants have been added to the fellowship program for American students instituted by AAUW in 1890 to promote higher education for women.

Maintained by the generosity of the more than 122,000 AAUW members, the program is administered from the association's national headquarters in Washington, D. C. Each AAUW international grantee is given individual attention from the moment she receives the grant to her departure.

As soon as the grants are assigned, the AAUW tackles the job of placing the student in the particular university or institution that will best satisfy her needs. Whether grantholders arrive in New York or San Francisco, in fall or in winter, an AAUW member meets the boat or plane, helps the student through customs, presents the first check, arranges transportation to the place of study, and smooths any difficulties.

From then on, AAUW members offer grantees their hospitality and assistance in adjustments to new situations.

The AAUW grants pay all expenses of these students, usually for an academic year's study. Many of them have Fulbright grants to cover the cost of travel to and from their homelands, but if necessary, AAUW pays travel expenses. AAUW funds also cover tuition, room and board, and a generous cash allowance for books, clothing, recreation, travel and incidentals.

The 1952-53 grantholders are for the most part women who are already launched in their profession or are taking advanced training in specialized fields. In 40 colleges, universities, or laboratories scattered throughout the United States.

Presenting The Younger Generation

One and Only

The wee "one and only" of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neill of 832 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, is 6 month old Richard pictured first in today's grouping of little folks.

"Richard has brown hair, blue eyes and a happy disposition," stated Mrs. Neill, "and is now in the crawling and learning to sit stage." The family just returned from a trip to Colorado where they visited both sets of grandparents. This was Richard's first plane trip and first meeting with his grandmas and grandpas. "He was just fine the whole time," explained his mother, "in fact he was better at Grandma's than he is at home."

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neill of Greeley, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Martin of Denver.

Sunny Smiles

Bright blue eyes, blond hair and lots of sunny smiles are main features of the happy little fellow pictured next. He is Dennis Lee Conrad, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Conrad, 212 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

Denny is a true boy favoring trucks and cars to other toys. "He also likes to make rattle boxes by filling hollow blocks with little things that jingle," declared his mother. Ronnie, Denny's big brother, rates as favorite playmate. He is 11 years old and in the sixth grade at the Junior high school.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Conrad of Sterling, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bailey of Van Wert, O., are grandparents of the boys. Mrs. Charles Ladd, also of Van Wert, is their great-grandmother.

The three little people pictured next are not only pals but brother, sister and "Uncle." They are Debra Jo and Michael Otto, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs Gordon E. Otto of 436 N. Brockway, and George Flanigan, son of Mrs. George Flanigan of the same address.

First we have tiny Debra Jo. She is 6½ months old, has light blonde hair, and blue eyes. Debra crawls everywhere and is predicted to be an early walker.

Two and one-half year old, blond and hazel-eyed Michael is "strictly a cowboy from the word go" declared Mrs. Otto, and is an avid Bob Atcher fan. His young "Uncle George" pictured next is his ideal and a favorite playmate.

The latest addition to the family is Tuffy, the baby boxer. Even baby Debra's eyes brighten when Tuffy's name is mentioned or she catches a glimpse of this much loved pet.

And now we come to Uncle George. He is 9 years old, has brown hair and brown eyes and is proudly wearing a cub scout uniform along with a big smile on this picture. George is in the fourth grade at Palatine school. He has a real interest in the cub scouts and also enjoys painting and drawing.

Holiday Halos

Malibou Beach, Cal. . . . About the first week after Thanksgiving a peaceful quiet steals thru our house. Instead of living in what seems like a four-ring circus full of rioting clowns, we are able to walk and talk normally. We can even use the telephone. This is what we call the angelic lull, a strictly seasonal behavior pattern induced by the immediacy of Christmas. Our four, boisterous, progeny act like so many little Lord Fauntleroys during this period.

My two smallest began writing letters to Santa Claus and the two older boys talk casually of those things dear to their hearts they would fain find under the tree Christmas morning. The calendar in their room looks like a bloody footed chicken had walked across it as they began marking off the days with red crayon. The little ones, halos slightly askew, proffer slippers and ash trays with embarrassing frequency and the handome helpmate knows the dishes are being done with loving care because each fragment sparkles brightly as she sweeps up the pieces. This is the most wonderful time of the year.

I am looking forward to this Christmas even more than usual. Each year, heretofore, we have been necessarily limited by the standard eight foot ceiling found in most homes. Our home here on the beach has a two story, Spanish living room and the ceiling is a grand 20 feet high. I don't say we're going to have a 20 foot Christmas tree but I know we're going to need a ladder to trim it.

There has been a short break between the last paragraph and this one while I went to the postoffice to mail Rory's letter to Santa Claus. He insisted on going along to make sure I mailed it because last year, about a week after Christmas, he found his letter for last year in one of my suit pockets, and wanted to know how Santa knew what he wanted. All I can say is that for a kid that is just learning to write, he is certainly a prolific little squire. Postage on this year's tome was $.78. I wish he'd stop describing exactly how to get here from the north pole. But — it's worth it.

Libertyville To Vote On New Sewer System

A report from the Libertyville village board to local citizens on the storm sewer program which will be voted on Dec. 6, has been mailed out.

The report states the population of Libertyville has tripled since the present storm sewer system was installed in 1920, and that at that time the system was not designed for a population of 6,000, which is the present figure.

'Rhine Journey' Next Night School Travelogue

Curtis Nagel's only appearance on the travel and adventure course at Arlington Heights high school this year will be Tuesday, December 9, when he will show his latest colorlogue entitled, "Rhine Journey," to be accompanied by his well-known symphonic musical background. Nagel gave one of the most outstanding performances of the season last year, and his audience this year will have an unusual treat in store to have him back again.

The colorlogue will follow the historic Rhine river from Lake Constance in Switzerland to and through Germany and Holland to the sea. No devastation, war, or politics—just scenic loveliness and travelore, replete with human interest and native life.

INCLUDED IN THE highlights of this "Rhine Journey" itinerary are the world famed beauties of the Bavarian Alps, Lake Constance, Frieburg, the Black Forest, Baden-Baden, Karsruhe, Worms - Mannheim, Heidelberg, Nurnberg, Rothenberg, Bayreuth, Koblenz, Bonn, Cologne, Dusseldorf, Nijmegen, Dordrecht, Holland's tulip fields, Schiedam, Viaardingen, Rotterdam and meeting the sea at the quaint Hook of Holland.

No tourist trip through Germany in the summer is complete without a side tour to the Wagner Festival at Bayreuth, with the tape recorder bringing back to life some of the great music of Wagner, Heidelberg, et al. The "Siren's Rock," made famous by the "Lorelie" will also be seen. At Bonn a visit is made to the birthplace and old home home of Beethoven

She went away, but not in our hearts,
'Cause forever and ever she's always a part.

Along the road of yesterday,
To live again in memory
The happy days that used to be;
To hear you laugh and see you smile,
To talk with you a little while;
We love to linger on the way
That leads us back to yesterday.

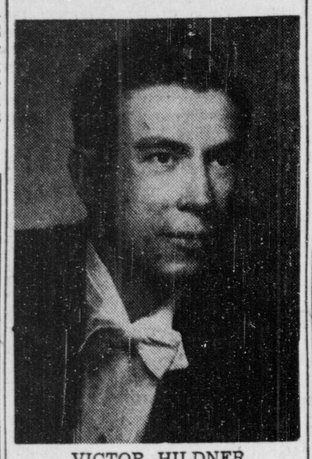
College Choir To Sing At Church Service



VICTOR HILDNER

The 60-voice A Cappella choir of Concordia Teachers college, River Forest, under the direction of Victor Hildner, will be heard in the morning worship of Immanual Lutheran church, Palatine, December 7, at 10:30 a.m. Their choral prelude will be at 10:15 a.m..

Now in its thirty-fifth season, the choir has become widely known while annually touring several thousand miles. The choir has frequently made guest appearances on radio and television in Cincinnati, St. Louis and Houston, Texas.

While on tour in the spring of 1951, the choir made a number of appearances in the east and midwest which were climaxed by an enthusiastic reception received from audiences and critics following its New York Town Hall appearance.

During the past few years the choir has achieved national recognition through a series of broadcasts heard over the nationwide NBC network. Among the important musical landmarks which the choir has established in these broadcasts were a radio premier of "The Seven Words From the Cross" by Heinrich Schuetz, and a first performance in America of a little known work, "From Heaven High to Earth I Come" by the seventeenth century Lutheran master, Michael Praetorius.

A special feature of the choir's work has been the release of records and record albums which have been made with Columbia and Victor.

Membership in the choir is made up of young men and women from all walks of life who have come to Concordia Teachers college for the purpose of preparing themselves for specialized work in Christian education in the Lutheran church, Missouri Synod.

Mr. Hildner, director of the choir, is in charge of music education at Concordia Teachers college and specializes in the field of vocal technique. He completed his graduate work for the degree of Master of Music at the University of Michigan, and at present is continuing advanced studies at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y. In addition to many appearances as conductor, Mr. Hildner has appeared as guest organist in concert work, and has studied in the master classes of Marcel Dupre, the great French organist. (B-4

Scout Council Sees Increased Budget Necessary For Operations During 1953

by ARNOLD HATCH

Twenty-five executive board members of NWS council discussed finances and budget required for 1953 in the conference room of Benjamin Electric November 24.

Fred Welsh reported the council has spent $29,000 for the ten months of the fiscal year 1952 and with another assistant scout executive starting January 1 the new 1953 budget required will be approximately $47,000. The phenomenal growth of scouting in NWS council has reached 4,000 registered scouts. Costs have risen sharply all along the line creating a new high of better than $11.50 per scout in providing a better than average scout program. Finance drive plans are well under way and most localities are planning to run their fund raising campaigns concurrently with scout week, the second week in February, 1953.

All fund drives for 1942 have been completed and funds are all in, leaving hardly enough to finish the fiscal year.

WALLY DeBUHR reported the nominating committee had the list of officers for 1953 nearly completed and it will be presented at the annual appreciation dinner in January.

Otto Harz said operating personnel for Camp Napawan's 1953 season have nearly all been assigned. So far a registered nurse has not been found.

William Kratt advised work is progressing on long range planning as well as can be expected.

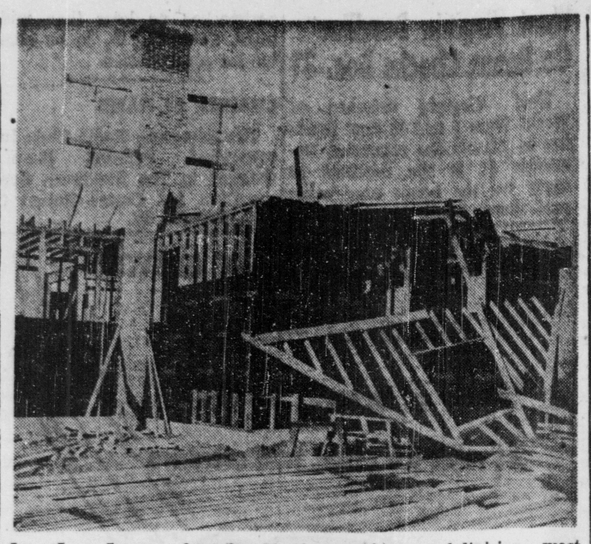
Erich Schalk announced that plans for the annual appreciation dinner are well along. This top festive affair of NWS council will be held Sunday, Jan. 11, at St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, at $1.25 a plate. A business meeting will precede the dinner at 5 o'clock in which election of officers will take place and revision of constitution will be voted. Tickets will be available from Les McAuliffe, A. Armstrong and Ken Makay.

RALPH SPOO declared the wiring project at Camp Dan Beard has been a long drawn out affair which is finally completed and the power will be turned on soon.

Scouts in all districts did an excellent job in the recent "get out and vote" campaign.

Stan Huntington is sure a booklet together with maps and costs on the 1953 Jamboree will be in the mails shortly and every scout is on his list to receive a copy.

George Sheppard urges all executive board members to be sure to attend the next board meeting, a special one, December 15, place and time to be announced.



Another house in the Northwest Acres subdivision, west of Palatine, which took a beating during the terrific windstorm last week, Wednesday. The peaks and cross beams on the roof were all in place. The wind ripped them off and cast them to the ground. The home is being constructed by J. R. Walkinshow.

U. Of Illinois Enters Animals In International

The University of Illinois again this year is one of the largest exhibitors in the 1952 International Livestock Exposition in Chicago the first week in December.

Entries from the University in the beef division will include four Angus, one Hereford and one Polled Shorthorn steer. Sheep entries will include one Hampshire, two Rambouillets, six Shropshire, eight Southdown and seven Suffolk sheep. The sheep division will also enter dressed carcass and market wool classes.

Animals from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture farms have always made a creditable showing at the Chicago exposition and have won many honors in past years. Last year the college exhibited the champion Rambouillet ram and ewe among several other high-ranking winners.

H. G. RUSSELL, extension livestock specialist, and George Dungan, agronomy professor, will be among the judges at this year's show. Russell will judge the purebred Duroc-Jersey swine classes, while Dungan will be one of the judges of corn and soybeans at the International Grain and Hay show.

Three university judging teams will compete during the International show in Chicago. The livestock judging team will judge on November 29, the meats judging team on December 2

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

White House Tradition

There was at least one sector of the population which had no worries about the outcome of the recent presidential election. Most dog owners were aware that both candidates were known to be dog owners of long standing.

Although President-elect Eisenhower had been without a dog during his recent busy years, previous to the time when the rapidity of his movements made it impossible to keep a canine companion, he had a Scottish Terrier that traveled all over the world with him. And the very day after the election he lost no time in arranging to have a new arrival in the Eisenhower home, another Scottie whose name is "Skunk" and who will be with Mr. Eisenhower when he goes to Washington.

Thus will be kept alive a tradition that began with the first president. Of the 32 presidents from Washington to Truman, 23 were dog owners. Probably the most ardent dog lover among the presidents was Teddy Roosevelt, who with all the members of his family were very fond of most all breeds.

The most widely publicized of the White House dogs, of course, was Franklin D. Roosevelt's Scottie, Fala, who sat in on press meetings and was constantly at his master's side.

And now, once again, there'll be a Scottie in the White House and a president who loves dogs.

Fido's Zest

Not only are America's dogs living longer than they used to but they are in better health and spirits during the added years they spend with their owners.

"T'aint fit for a dog to eat" used to be the ultimate in condemning a particularly unpalatable dish. The cold truth, however, as noted by Paul W. Kearney, noted dog man, is that a large proportion of America's 22,000,000 dog population is fed better and more scientifically than their masters. Because of large expenditures over the years on feeding research under strict controls, more is known about dog nutrition than about human nutrition.

Rand Park

Folks who are obedience dog minded will be headed this coming Sunday, December 7, for Rand Park in Des Plaines where the Rand Park dog training club will be holding their annual all-breed obedience trial.

Starting in the morning and lasting throughout the afternoon, it will give folks in the area a good chance to observe at first hand some of the obedience trained dogs from this area as well as from other nearby states.

Dog Facts

The nation's dog population has increased 200% in the past 30 years — The Whippet gets its name from the word "Whip" meaning quick — Ethiopia at one time had as monarch a hound whose slightest snarl was sufficient to adjudge a political prisoner guilty.

Expect Crystal Lake Meters To Be Paid For By Next May

Parking meters, installed in the business sections of Crystal Lake in September of 1950 at a cost of $20,647, have brought in a total to Oct. 31, 1952 of $34,155.50. Under the meter purchase plan, one half of the funds collected are used to pay for the meters, the other one half going to the city which is used for general fund expenses.

There are a total of 327 meters in use with the average collection per month per meter being $4.15. Indications are that by May 1, 1953, the meters will be paid for and then the entire proceeds will be kept by the city.

Bisons Hold Edge In Past Scores, 14-12

by DON TUCHSCHERER

Bensenville will be host to Palatine Friday, Dec. 5, in an effort to reduce the first place rating given the Pirates by numerous sports writers.

Thus far, Palatine's record consists of three wins and one loss including both conference and non-conference games. They've beaten Grayslake, Libertyville and Lake Forest while their only defeat was handed them by Arlington Heights.

THE PIRATES have the advantage in height over the Bisons with the average player standing about 6'1". Bensenville's average height will be approximately 5'11".

Although height is usually considered and seems to be taken as a prime factor, it won't matter to a great degree with the Bisons if they play like they did in their opener with Ela.

THE PALATINE squad will be looking to forward Paul Schrage as a big factor in their effort to capture their first win from the Bisons. The home five, on the other hand, is expected to rely on the consistent scoring of Richard Syzmonik to bring about an upset.

If both teams play heads-up ball, the Pirates may not be as large a favorite as they have been termed during pre-season guessing. Bensenville actually holds a victory edge of 14 to 12 over the 13-year rivalry between the two schools.

Other nominations may be made from the floor.

Officers will be elected and installed at the meeting, final one for 1952.

Stitzel, superintendent of Waterman public schools, Clarence Valentine of Aurora West high school board of education, Glen Armbruster, Aurora East Dad's club president, Dale Lancaster, sports editor of the Aurora Beacon-News, and Milt Sprunger, assistant executive secretary of the IHSA.

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

DO ATHLETES GET THE BREAKS in schools of the Northwest conference? Do coaches in the Northwest conference play boys on teams if they have ability regardless of training rules? Is win at any cost the goal of coaches of this area?

A letter appeared in the Saturday Evening Post of November 22 written by Margot Hardenbergh, a school paper editor at Ela-Vernon High School, in which she commented on the recent article, "I'm Through with High School Football," written by a coach in Pennsylvania. Margot comments that football is not as commercialized in this "neck of the woods" but that coaches think football means only one thing—to win.

She says that coaches play boys whether they observe training rules or not so long as they are good players. She states that football players in her school are the "wheels" and in certain classes some players do not deserve the marks they are given.

We know that there is a lot of truth, unfortunately, in Margot's comments but we would say from our own observations that Ela-Vernon of all the Northwest schools is probably the least guilty of the charges she makes against the athletic program. In fact, we don't think the athletes get preferred treatment, but they are in the public eye and get a lot of attention from the student sports fans.

In most schools around here they have to work harder than other students in many instances because teachers are conscious of their shortcomings due to eligibility requirements.

We are afraid Margot's charge of coaches thinking more about winning than some other important things connected with athletics is the most justified criticism of athletics in this area.

TO ALL APPEARANCES basketball in the suburban area shows no standout teams as in former years when the season opened. Scores over the past week between West Suburban and schools of the Suburban and the South Suburban leagues have been unusually close. There may be many good teams, but all indications point to very evenly matched competition in these three conferences of big schools.

Here in the Northwest and the North Suburban there seems little to choose among the teams. We think Barrington is a little better than the rest, but surely not out of their class.

Usually there is a team or two boomed from the start as a possibility to go to the state. Morton, LaGrange, Elgin, Hebron and others have been in this category in the past, but not this season.

THE LIBERTYVILLE HOLIDAY TOURNAMENT bids fair to be a very interesting event. Early scores indicate there would be little to choose among Arlington Heights, Libertyville, Ela-Vernon, Palatine, Grant and Warren. McHenry and Lake Forest may be just as good by tournament time.

It would be tough to pick four teams that line up to seed into opposing brackets. A draw among the eight might be just as fair a way to pair for the first round.

The tournament opens with the first round games the evenings of December 22 and 23. After Christmas the semi-finals will be December 26 and the finals December 27. This event should draw good crowds for every entry has a chance.

GRANT IS THE DARK HORSE of the Northwest conference. A 55-52 score in their game with Libertyville established their strength if anyone doubted it. The high scoring of Bob Bein, a sub soph forward, is making Grant a real threat. Bein has averaged 18 points a game in his first four starts.

Grant has good shooting, height, and good coaching. Their defensive strength is the question. Don't count them out too soon.

Ray DeGreef

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS may stand in the same position as Grant in the West Suburban. Figured to be very mediore, Coach DeGreef's boys have height, good ball handling, and can shoot and rebound. We have seen a good many Arlington teams in our day which could not make a game of it against the current Cardinals.

We did not see much of Arlington a year ago, but the 1952-53 edition looks a great deal better to us in every respect. They will be in the running against most of the West Suburban fives.

Standouts for the Cardinals against Palatine Wednesday were George Skelton with his five baskets from the side the first half; Slinkard's pressure playing the second half, and the rebounding the entire game, particularly that of Turner, subbing for McAuliffe.

Oil Industry

The United States oil industry now produces about 7,000,000 barrels of oil daily and employs 2,000,000 workers at over 50,000 wells, 350 refineries, 165,000 miles of pipe line, and 200,000 service stations.

Eligibility Dates Near For Paddock Tournament

Bowlers of 58 leagues have their eyes on loop standings as the deadline nears for Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap. Leaders in men's leagues at six local establishments as of December 13 are eligible for the January 4 affair at Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes.

First place aggregations in all women's leagues at these same alleys as of December 20 are eligible for the ladies' tournament January 11 at Bowlwood Recreation, Wood Dale.

Of those 58 leagues 36 are men's. That's twelve more loops than participated in last year's tournament at Hi-Way Recreation when $200 in prizes was distributed in addition to six trophies.

THE TOURNAMENT has been doubled this year. It includes women's leagues as well as the men's. Twelve trophies are being given with more than $200 in prizes expected for the men, and more than $150 in prizes for the women. The meet, shifted each year to different alleys in Paddock Publications' area, includes leagues rolling at Arlington Hts., Mount Prospect, Wheeling, Palatine, Bensenville and Wood Dale.

Entry fee for all five-man teams is $15, with half of the money going into prizes. Reservations for the men's leagues are, due from league secretaries by December 20, and from the women December 27, payable to tournament manager, Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights.

PALATINE LEADS the parade of men's loops eligible to compete with eight. Both Arlington and Mount Prospect have seven, Bensenville and Wood Dale five each, Wheeling four.

For the women there are seven from Arlington, five from Palatine and Bensenville, three from Mount Prospect, and two each from Wheeling and Wood Dale.

All 58 squads are listed this week in an adjoining column giving margin ahead of second place teams as of Tuesday in most cases.

The figures reveal two men's leagues are tied, four have half game margins, and sixteen one game leads. With determining date a week from this Saturday, that means 21 leagues still don't know their entrant in the tournament.

In the women's division with three weeks of competition to go until December 20, three loops are tied, four have one game margins, and five have two game leads. Busse's in the Tri-City Ladies league has a six game margin, which almost assures them of a tournament berth.

TOP MARGIN for the men is that of Carmi's Tavern, eleven ahead of the pick in the Friday Scratch loop at Wheeling.

Of these 63 leaders, three are repeaters from last year's tournament. Coleman Drug of Palatine Major loop finished seventh, Haberkamp Flowers of Mount Prospect Business Men's league 17th and Arlington Liquor Mart of Businessmen's Sportsmen's loop 23rd.

A gross of 2979 took the men's tournament last year, including a 263 pin handicap sported by Haseman Motors, currently running in second place in the Palatine House league. The 500 pin handicap limit for men's teams means an actual of 2420 could have taken the trophy, a mark most men's teams can hit.

For the women the handicap limit is 450 pins, based on 70% from 900.

IN CASE OF A TIE

In case of a tie in any league, officers of that league will have the responsibility of selecting the entry for the Paddock tourney.

Arlington Frosh At Maine This Saturday

Arlington's freshman basketball squad will open competition this Saturday at Maine with 25 boys making the trip. Thirty were still on the roster Monday of this week, but Coach "Bus" Ormsbee planned a cut of five boys Friday.

Little is known of the possibilities of the boys to date. Larry Brumm has been advanced to the frosh-soph squad, so will not see action with Coach Ormsbee's team.

Expected to start Saturday morning are 5'11" Wayne Malzahn at center, 6' Dick Seich and 5'11" William Randag at the forwards, and 5'5" Robert Uhlhorn and 5'9" John Sujack at the guards.

Palatine Cops Two One-Pointers At Ela

Both Palatine teams stayed in the undefeated class in the Northwest standings by the narrowest margin possible as they eked out two one point victories at Lake Zurich at the expense of good Ela-Vernon teams Tuesday night.

The Palatine varsity won 48-47 in a game in which the lead see-sawed back and forth throughout. The frosh-sophs came from behind a 12 point deficit and scored 20 points in the final quarter for a 41-40 triumph.

PALATINE PLAYED a zone defense to stop big Frank Cole, Ela-Vernon's high scoring center and they acomplished this by holding him to six points. However, fast breaks and shots over the defense kept Ela in the ball game all the way. Dee Busch led the Ela team with 14 points followed by Stockinger with 10 and Prouty with eight. The Bears were unusually effective from the foul line sinking 17 in 25 tries.

Paul Schrage made all eight free throw attempts and four field goals for 16 points to lead the Pirates. Stan Hauseman made five from the field and four of six free ones for 14 points. At half time Palatine led 27-26. The Pirates pulled away to a six point lead at one time in the second half but Ela came right back to pass them up. Effective stalling by Palatine near the end of the game and Schrage's last period free throws helped Palatine stay on top in a game wihch could have gone either way.

THE PALATINE frosh-sophs made it a close game for one quarter and then for 15 minutes appeared to be completely out of the running. Ela led 23-16 at the half and 33-21 going into the final seven minute period. Consistent shooting by Eck, Schutz, Goetz and Prust helped Palatine move into contention in the final minutes of the game.

With the score 40-36, Ela, and less than a minute ot play Prust made the first of two free throws and Schutz rebounded the missed try for a basket to make it 40-39. With five seconds to play Goetz had two free throws and missed them both but again Shutz rebounded the second miss into the basket for two points and a Palatine victory.

Ela had a rangier team and got more shots due to superior rebounding but their shooting eye was off at the finish while the young Pirates could hardly miss. Alan Eck was outstanding with 13 points for Palatine. Murphy scored 14 for Ela-Vernon.

ANTIOCH'S highly rated cage quintet, which had beaten Dundee by four points, opened conference play Tuesday with a pair of decisive victories over Wauconda. Led by the Floyd brothers who scored 31 points between them the Sequoits were never threatened by Wauconda and won going away 58-39. Punches scored 11 and Bass 12 for the losers.

Antioch's frosh-sophs also won by a 50-33 count. Antioch won

Arlington Home To Barrington Saturday

by BOB PADDOCK

Whether the optimism showing on the faces of 1500 Arlington Heights basketball fans who joyously filed out of the gym last week after the Cardinals had whipped Palatine is justified will be known Sunday morning after Coach Ray DeGreeff's boys have two more tough games under their belts.

For this week it will be defending West Suburban champion LaGrange (two years running) on the Lyons township floor Friday night, and Barrington, Northwest conference champion the last four years, Saturday night in the spacious new Heights gym.

COACH DeGREEFF was noncommittal Monday morning, pleased with his squad's first victory in the new gym, yet uncertain as to whether his team will show that good against West Suburban competition. "About as good as last year, maybe a bit better" was Ray's statement as practice opened November 1.

Last year Arlington finished sixth in the league with a 5-9 slate. The locals beat Glenbard twice, Hinsdale, Maine and Riverside-Brookfield.

But this week Heights will certainly get one of its biggest tests when the squad comes up against LaGrange, champs the past two years, and favored with York to head the parade this time.

LaGRANGE, by the way, has taken 26 of the last 27 league games, and 45 of the last 50. The Lyons township five hasn't been lower than third the past ten seasons in basketball.

Arlington fans will see Dick McAuliffe, 6'4" boy out last week with a sprained ankle, starting at center against LaGrange. At the guards will be 5'10" John Eakins and 6' Larry Slinkard. George Skelton, 6'½", and Tom Bowersox, 6'2', will probably start at the two forwards.

Almost equal to this forward wall, and certain to get into the game early will be Bob Turner, who filled in so capably for McAuliffe against Palatine. Bob stands 6'2" and rounds out a fairly tall first six for Coach DeGreeff.

THE FROSH-SOPHS, too, have a tough row to hoe. LaGrange copped that division, too, last year, and Coach Maurice Klotz and his squad are decided underdogs.

Against Palatine the frosh-soph defense looked weak, but the offense performed as expected. Maher, Mueller and Riggs looked particularly good with the others coming along.

SATURDAY NIGHT the Cardinals return home to meet Barrington in another game certain to attract about 2,000 people. The spanking new gym at Heights is giving fans good seats without showing up at 6:30, something new for this area, and increases in attendance are expected.

Barrington lost to Hebron, 50-41, in its opener, but whipped Lake Forest last week in the North Suburban league where they are favored.

In other games throughout the West Suburban loop Hinsdale plays at Maine, Downers is at Riverside-Brookfield, and York journeys to Glenbard. Saturday night York is host to East Aurora in a non-league encounter.

Wheeling Hawks In 61-48 Win Over Skokie

The Wheeling Blackhawks came from behind in the fourth and final quarter to turn back the Skokie Sports Huddle five, 61-48, in their game at Niles grammar school gym Sunday afternoon. Skokie had maintained a slight lead over the Hawks throughout the first three quarters on their consistent shooting from the field.

Then the fourth and fatal quarter came, and the Hawks snowed the Skokie boys under with 24 points, as compared to eight tallied by the home team. It was Wheeling's second straight win of the new season and the game was regarded as a warm-up for the Hawks North Shore league opener next week.

However, the game also proved costly to the Hawks, when Art Horcher, rangy center, suffered a torn ligament and a sprained ankle. Horcher will be out of the lineup at least two weeks.

HANS SCHMIDT, 5 foot 10 inch Blackhawk forward, led the scorers with 26 points, 16 of them on tip-ins and rebound shots. Skokie's Poiles and Haut were runners-up in the scoring parade with 14 points apiece. Third place point honors went to Skokie's Peterson and the Hawks' Rich Sander. Each tallied nine. The Sports Huddle team was previously unbeaten in eight starts and are currently in first place in the Skokie league.

The Blackhawks North Shore league schedule will be released next week. In an organizational meeting at the Winnetka community house, Bob Milne of the community house was elected president of the league. This year it will be a traveling league, with each team playing the other on a home and home basis. There will be two rounds of play.

More news about the league will appear in next week's issue.

Last Second Layup Gives York Victory

Bill Shineflug's last second layup gave York's Dukes a 55-54 victory in Elmhurst Friday, Elgin's Maroons absorbing the loss in their first basketball game of the 1952-53 season. It was York's second.

Elgin's Paul Path stole the ball from York's Wally Kirk and passed to Wes Foell who put the Maroons ahead, 54-53, with less than 15 seconds remaining. But the West Suburban league quintet was not to be denied the triumph and Shineflug drove in from the corner and laid in the winning deuce, the final horn sounding before the ball hit the floor.

Kirk, five-foot, ten-inch York guard who was named to the West suburban league all-conferenc team last season and quarterbacked the Dukes' eleven for the past two years, was the game's top scorer, collecting 22 points on six field goals and 10 charity tosses. Morey Weiss, Elgin's six-one pivot, topped the Watch City Kids with 20, accumulated on seven field goals and six free throws.

Rebounding At Both Baskets Means 53-48 Victory For Arlington Over Palatine

The "Sleigh Bells" trophy will not have to be moved from the Arlington Heights high school display case this year and perhaps for many years. Last week on Thanksgiving eve Arlington's Cards whipped Palatine, 53-48, before a big crowd in the new Arlington high gym and the frosh-sophs had an easy time beating Palatine, 45-28.

Arlington, supposed to have a rebuilding year in basketball, appears to have the makings of a real good ball team which is farther along than expected. The Cards were paced Wednesday by George Skelton with 15 points and Harry Slinkard with 19. Slinkard, a transfer junior from Missouri, was on a cage squad which went to the state tourney last spring. Slinkard appears to have much better background in basketball fundamentals than other Arlington-Palatine boys at the junior level.

THE FIRST HALF of the varsity game was very close. Stan Hauseman, who scored 14 points in the first half, matched the shooting of George Skelton of the Cards. Palatine led, 23-22, at the intermission after a deadlock at nine all at the quarter. Arlington won the game in the third period when they took a six point lead.

The second half attack was led for Arlington by Bob Turner and Harry Slinkard. Schrage, Meyer, and Busch kept Palatine in the ball game but as close as they could come to the Cards was three points.

Arlington's edge in the game was on rebounding where they had a distinct advantage under both boards. The Cards got enough rebound baskets in the second half to provide the margin of victory.

ARLINGTON'S Frosh-Sophs ran away with the game in the third period after a ragged first half in which both teams played poor ball. The Cards scored 14 points to Palatine's two in the third period.

Dennis Maher with 14 points and Jack Riggs, who scored six, were outstanding for Arlington at the guards. Big Wayne Mueller at center tallied 20 points.

Palatine finally got a combination in action which held its own with John Goetz getting five baskets in seven shots in the last quarter for 10 points.

Wheaton Swamps Glenbard, 57-41

by ED BERNDT

An experienced crew from Wheaton ground out an easy 57-41 win over the Glenbard Hilltoppers November 26.

Leading all the way and showing a fine, well balanced attack, the Tigers showed they will be a threat in their conference this year.

The Bards got a 1-0 lead when Ken Mullen got a free throw but Hamilton of Wheaton immediately sank one to tie. Brontsema promptly hit on a long shot to give them a lead they never relinquished. The Tigers had a 14-9 first quarter lead.

THE SECOND quarter started with Kuhnen and Kamm hitting for two quick baskets. Anderson of Wheaton netted two quick ones toward the end of the quarter to give Wheaton a 25-16 halftime lead.

The third quarter was a runaway for Wheaton. Hamilton collected eight points while Kamm picked up five. Ken Mullin sank five for the Bards.

In the last quarter the Bard attack started rolling as they went into a fast break. Mullin and Peters got six points each for the Bards. Paul Thurston hit for three quick baskets at the beginning of the quarter to ice the game.

KEN MULLIN was high scorer with 17 points. Ken also played a fine game under the boards and blocked many a Wheaton shot. Dick Hamilton of Wheaton picked up 14 points and Tom Peters of Glenbard got 10.

The Bards hit on 15 of 21 free throws for a 71% average. Wheaton hit 15 of 23 for a 65% average.

The Bards open the conference season at York next Friday.

Bisons Surprise To Nearly Upset Ela; Lose, 65-62

by GIL CUATRECASES

The Northwest conference season opened last week Wednesday night with Ela-Vernon nipping Bensenville, 65-62, and Grant of Fox Lake taking the measure of Wauconda, 56-45.

Ela, one of the championship favorites, played without the services of Grever, regular six-foot two center but led all the way against Coach Novatny's new Bison team. The loss of four regulars on personal fouls in the second half weakened the Ela Bears and made the finish a close one as Bensenville capitalized on free throws. The Bisons made 29 free throws and Ela 23. Both teams scored more free throws than field goals.

ELA HAD a lead of 38-32 at the half but Bensenville came within one point of knotting the count in the third period, 49-48. Ela lost Bush, Prouty, Chaffin, and Shroyer on fouls. Frank Cole, six foot five center, collected 26 points for the winners on nine field goals and eight free throws. Long got 18, Heuer 18, and Syzmonik 12 for Bensenville's surprising Bisons.

Cole led all scorers with 26 points for the visitors while Heuer and Long potted 18 each and Szymonik 12 for the host squad. Bensenville led the free throw parade with 70 percent accuracy. Four Bear regulars fouled out during the game as they committed a total of 29 fouls to the Bisons' 20.

BENSENVILLE demonstrated superior shooting ability as they made 16 out of 50 field goal attempts for 32 percent success. Ela's 21 out of 80 represented a less impressive 25.9 percent.

In the preliminary contest, Ela took an 8 to 5 lead in the first period and never relinquished it. At the half, the little Bisons narrowed the margin to 18 to 15, but that was the closest they ever got. The final score was 39 to 29. Ela's Hilburn led all scorers in the tilt with 15 points.

WAUCONDA HELD a first half edge on Grant 26-22 but the Fox Lake boys had things their own way thereafter as Bob Bein, sophomore forward, got the range. Grant outscored the visitors 16-6 in the final period. Bein who was not a starter rang up 23 points on nine buckets and five free shots. Grennell got 12 to aid Grant's cause. Tom Nolan, Wauconda center, was high man for the losers with 15 points.

Wauconda's classy frosh-soph team gave evidence that they are out to top the conference with a 62-35 victory.

Gems of Thought

NEW YEAR

Time! the corrector when our judgments err.
—Lord Byron

Look not mournfully to the past — it comes not back again; wisely improve the present — it is thine; go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear, and with a manly heart.
—Longfellow

The best preparation for the future is the present well seen to, and the last duty done.
—G. Macdonald

Time is a mortal thought, the divisor of which is the solar year. Eternity is God's measurement of Soulfilled years.
—Mary Baker Eddy

O tell us, Year — we are fain to know — What is thy charm that we hail thee so,
—Margaret E. Sangster

De Kalb College Receiver Snagged Record 44 Passes

Jim McKenzie tops the final statistics at Northern Illinois State with 44 passes caught in nine games for 703 yards and six touchdowns.

This figure will likely hand McKenzie the national small college pass receiving championship, although it won't be official until the final release from the NCAA statistics bureau in New York.

McKinzie's total established a new Northern pass catching record, smashing Fran Cahill's mark of 40 established last fall. He also chalked a new IIAC record with 36 catches for 597 yards and four scoring catches, erasing the mark of 30 for 420 yards set last fall by Bill Rogers of Western Illinois State.

VERSATILE Billy Graham, Chicago Heights sophomore, topped the Huskies in total offense, punting, and kickoff returns. He fired 33 passes for 499 yards, and added 205 yards on the ground for 704 yards offense.

Graham's conference punting average of 43.7 will likely hand him the IIAC title in that department this fall, while his season average was 36.6.

Another DeKalb athlete, freshman Jim Harmes, was the team's passing leader with 46 completions for 694 yards and seven touchdowns. Harmes attempted 106 aerials, and connected at a rate of 43 per cent.

LOCALLY, Arlington's Eric Nelson completed two passes for 23 yards in 15 attempts, with two intercepted. He carried the ball just once during the season, gaining three yards.

Frank Deigl of Arlington caught four passes for 73 yards.

Ron Broadhay of LaGrange ran back eight punt returns for 75 yards and intercepted two passes for seven yards.

Leyden Basketball Prospects Look Good

Coach George Cox of Leyden high in Franklin Park has the best cage prospects at the school in many years. Proof is in victories over Evanston and a veteran Niles team in the two opening games. This week, Friday, Leyden will engage Lockport in a home game and will play at Elgin Saturday night. Leyden's home games are scheduled in either the Elm or the John Mills grade school gyms in Elmwood Park.

While Leyden has seven lettermen, all seniors, available for the varsity team two juniors, Joe Scardino, five-foot-eleven inch guard and Ed Miller, five-foot-ten forward, were on the starting five in the Eagles opening games.

MUCH DEPENDS upon how Len Hay comes back from a knee operation at the end of last season. He is a fine six-foot-three forward. David Proper, six-foot-four veteran center, is having competition from six-foot-three Bob Bielich, a junior.

Other lettermen are Charles Flick, five-foot-seven, and Ken Winberg, six-foot-one, forwards; Conrad Ryberg, six-one center, and Ronald Kiss and Jack Grienke, five-foot-ten guards. Other juniors making a strong bid are Ralph Chavez, James Krupa, and James Malapanes.

LEYDEN'S BIG ASSET this year is in team strength with 10 or more boys of near equal ability. Leyden will give a good account of themselves in the South Suburban league which, from early scores, appears to be evenly matched this year.

On Leyden's schedule are games at Palatine Saturday, January 24, and at Barrington Saturday, Februry 21. Leyden will play in the DeKalb holiday tournament December 26-30.

Lou Granzin will handle the frosh-soph cagers at Leyden, while Bob Heimerdinger is assigned to the freshmen.

Palatine Opens NW Schedule In Grayslake Win

Palatine opened the Northwest conference schedule at Grayslake last Friday night with a 55-43 victory over a small but good ball team. John Hook's long shots for Grayslake kept them in the game with a tie score at the quarter, but Palatine started hitting in the second period with Paul Schrage getting four baskets and Hauseman and Meyer two apiece. The result was a 33-22 margin at the half which meant the ball game.

Neither team did much scoring in the third period and Wally Giernoth, Grayslake center, led a Ram rally which netted 17 points to narrow the gap in the last period after Palatine had a 16 point lead. The Pirates were held without a basket in the last quarter but netted 13 free throws. Palatine had an eight point edge in free throws with 23 good ones in 40 tries.

Leading scorers were Schrage 19, Busch 15, Hauseman 11, and Meyer nine for Palatine and John Hook 14, Giernoth 11, and Jay Hook eight for Grayslake.

Palatine won the frosh-soph game, 39-32, after trailing 14-11 in a very poorly played first half. Alan Eck, John Goetz, and Don Schuetz sparked Palatine to the winning lead. Eck scored 14 points and Goetz 10. Beck had 10 points for Grayslake.

Inspired Antioch Dumps Dundee

An inspired spirited squad of Antioch Sequoits celebrated the inauguration of their new gymnasium by rallying in the second half to topple the famed Dundee Cardunals, 49-44, in a non-conference clash at Antioch last week. It was the opening game for Coach Dick Scott's hoopers and served as a measure of revenge for two shellackings at the hands of Gene de Lacey's touted crew last winter.

After spotting the visitors a 13-8 first quarter lead, the Scottsmen fought back in the second period to cut their deficit to one point, 27-26, by half-time. Sensing an upset, the Sequoits came back fighting in the second half and quickly pulled ahead to lead 37-34 going into the fourth period and then outscored their touted visitors in the closing eight minutes, 12-10.

LEADING THE well-rounded attack of the victorious Sequoits was Bob Weber with 16 points, while Boake Baird, Jerry Quilty and Bennie Floyd all figure prominently in the final point total with 13, eight and seven points respectively. Dobler countered for the vanquished Cardunals with 14 tallies.

Although the visitors lost the big one, they did gain some consolation in salvaging a 55-31 verdict over Warren Polley's classy frosh-soph combine in the preliminary fray.

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

WE WOULDN'T BE SURPRISED if the new free throw rule lasted just one season, though it is a ittle early to make predictions. At any rate the free throw has become the main shot in basketball. It certainly shows no indications of reducing fouling by a more severe penalty.

We don't think the officials are going to like it for their decisions have much more than formerly to do with the points scored and the outcome of games. This is certainly not a desirable trend. Basketball, a game the rule makers tinker with year after year, will be in for more changes as a result of this year's new free throw setup.

LISTED IN THE PRE-SEASON cage roster of Wheaton college is Don Rogers of Palatine . . . Gaining varsity grid letters at Illinois this year were Clarence DeMoss of York, Paul Luhrsen of York and Jan Smid of Leyden . . . A total of 6,412 reservations, a new record, have been confirmed thus far for the coming ABC bowling tournament in Chicago Feb. 21 through May 17. 8,000 teams are expected . . .

When Warren initiated McHenry in the North Suburban league Wednesday night with a double overtime, 44-42 defeat, it marked the end of a 28-game league losing streak for Warren. Last win for Gurnee was 34-26 over Grayslake January 20, 1950 . . .

Fifty-eight fouls were called in the Libertyville-Woodstock game last week, enabling the Streaks to make 28 points on free throws, a league record. They missed 25 shots, also a record . . . Among those receiving cross country letters at DePauw university is Gerald Herrmann of Palatine, a man who always "ran from the heart" for Coach Dick Welty's track teams . . . In the North Suburban loop this week are listed identical standings for both varsity and junior-varsity divisions. The same might still hold true after the second week of play.

Illini Cagers Experienced, Bit Deeper, To Open Against Loyola Wednesday Nite

A tall, talented, and experienced Illinois basketball team, perhaps a bit deeper in personnel than the 1952 squad, will bid for its third consecutive Big Ten championship during the 1952-53 campaign.

The Illini have only one non-conference game, an encounter with Loyola of Chicago in Huff gym December 10, before inaugurating the new Western Conference 18-game round robin schedule with Michigan at Urbana December 15.

Illinois lost three members of last year's travelling squad by graduation in June, but only one, Capt. Rod Fletcher, was a regular. Herb Gerecke and Mack Follmer, other graduates, performed only as reserves.

THEIR LOSS is offset by presence of three outstanding sophomores, two of whom, Ed Makovsky, 6-5 guard from Cicero (Morton), and Jim Dutcher, 6-3 forward from Downers Grove, played a bit as yearlings. Third is Elmer Plew, brilliant-shooting guard from Paris, who underwent a knee operation during his freshman year.

Coach Harry Combes, beginning his sixth season with the Illini still is undetermined as to what combination of personnel will carry the load during the rugged Big Ten round robin, as well as in non-conference bouts with Loyola, Butler, DePauw and St. Mary's of California.

AT PRESENT his first-line combination consists of John "Red" Kerr, 6-9 junior from Chicago (Tilden) at center, seniors Irv Bemoras, Chicago (Marshall) and Clive Follmer, Forrest, both 6-4, at forwards, and Capt. Jim Bredar, 5-10, Salem, and Bob Peterson, 6-8, Elgin at guards. This unit averages slightly under 6 feet 4 inches.

Peterson, of course, is first replacement for Kerr at center, but Combes hopes the 22-year-old redhead will have more durability than last season and that he will be able to play most of the way in tilts.

Replacements at guard, any of whom Combes feels might break in as a regular, include Jim Schuldt, 6-0 senior from Dundee, Jim Wright, 6-0 junior from Lawrenceville, Makovsky, and Plew.

Suburbs And Farmers Won Fight Against Chicago 20 Years Ago

The annexation of suburban Cook county by Chicago is not a new idea. Twenty years ago even more comprehensive plans than are now being presented were revealed in the December 9, 1932 issue of the Cook County Herald. It was known as the Griffenhagen plan and had the bakcing of many prominent persons in the state.

Some of the highlights of that plans were: Junior high schools, fewer school districts, unified police and public services over county, the reduction of 438 present county units of local government into approximately 130 with a direct annual saving of 21 million dollars.

In place of the present 155 separate police departments in Cook county, it proposed metropolitan police organization. Under the Cook county board of commissioners there would be a country-wide metropolitan public works department with four major bureaus and a regional planning and zoning auxiliary.

This public works administration would have a bureau of highways, water supply, sanitation and parks. As may readily be perceived, the various county wide bureaus would absorb the scores of sewage systems, road building and maintenance units, large park boards and the like, resulting in great savings.

The plan suggested the vesting of the entire responsibility for making assessments with the county assessor and asked the abolishment of the township assessors. It suggested that all election functions now performed by election commissioners, the county clerk and city canvassing board and the county judge and county board in connection with elections, be eliminated, and in their places would be a county election commissioner who would be responsible to the secretary of state.

The Griffenhagen study suggested the elimination of the county superintendent of schools, the school township trustees and the school township treasurer. The plan would have all rural highways arterial streets, the municipalities and local public roads in Cook county taken over by a metropolitan administration. However, all municipalities within the area would construct and maintain their own local streets. The report closed with the recommendation that the metropolitan bureau of parks take over the forest preserve system and all park areas except those less than 20 acres in extent.

THE ABOVE tells the big plans made 20 years ago by the politicians of Chicago and some downstate representatives and senators to take over local governments. The issue of December 16, 1932 carried news of the opposition.

Headlines read, "United in fight against government consolidation. Country towns organization is perfected. Mayor Bartlett of Evanston to head fight." Commissioner William Busse expressed himself briefly and to the point when he said, "Whatever you hear of a purely theoretical plan to change government or taxing systems, as suggested by the Griffenhagen report, it is time to look out."

The dangers to taxpayers outside of Chicago are many if any re-organization is made including any Chicago taxing bodies. Methods used to effect the proposed changes were subject to criticism by Commissioner Busse when he discussed the fact that the revision could be made by an act of legislature without a referendum vote of the people concerned. "It is un-democratic and un-American," said Busse.

T. C. Hart wrote, "As the battle of the county towns to preserve their individuality and the right to govern themselves grows hotter each week, a new and powerful force is added to the ranks of the county town army. The new force is organized agriculture, the forceful fighting spirit of the men and women who own and operate farms in Cook county.

O. G. Barrett, farm adviser, pointed out the advantages of farmer cooperation showing that a great amount of influence on downstate legislatures could be used through the cooperation of farm organizations.

It now appears that the fight to save the Cook county rural districts, towns and farms alike will be fought out at Springfield with the Cook county country towns organization seeking the aid and influence of the Illinois Municipal League calling on the Illinois Agriculture Association for both to stop the gobbling up of Cook county by a super government.

Meanwhile the legislative committee is planning bills along the lines of the Griffenhagen report and if the country towns are to keep their independence, eternal vigilance and united front against the proposed super government will be their only chance to save their individuality and their independence.

T. C. HART, of the news staff of Paddock Publications in this week's Tales Of The Street, predicts that with the support of the farmers and their organization the 1952 attempt to grab suburban towns will fail the same way it did in 1932.

Be Certain Of Heating Man Before You Sign

The home owner contemplating the purchase of a warm air winter air conditioning system as part of his home modernization plans should be certain to give equal consideration to every element of the system. This is the suggestion of the national warm air heating and air conditioning association, trade association for the warm air heating and air conditioning industry, according to Circle-Aire, local dealer member of the association.

A warm air winter air conditioning system is composed of a "heating unit," which contains the furnace, blower, burner, humidifier, and air filter; a "distribution system," which is made up of duct work, warm air registers, and return intakes; and "controls," which govern the operation of the blower.

Here are some recommendations to keep in mind when planning for the purchase and installation of a heating system:

REMEMBER that a weather-tight house pays ample dividends in low heating costs. Storm sash, weather stripping, caulking of frames and joints, insulation of ceilings, side walls, and other exposed surfaces will make your home that much easier and economical to heat.

Do not buy on price alone. A heating system is an investment in comfort for years to come. The actual price is not the price paid for the original equipment alone. It also includes the maintenance and fuel costs. A "cheapened" heating system will cost more in the long run than one which has been properly designed and correctly installed.

Make certain that the heating contractor you select is a qualified and reputable heating man. Check with some of his customers to learn about the quality of his work or check with local sources of business information to learn about his business integrity.

Specify that the installation be made in compliance with standards set forth.

Before signing any heating agreement make certain that specific arrangements have been made concerning the servicing

THE FENCE POST

Letters to the Fence Post should be short and concise. All letters must be signed, though name will be withheld if desired. Address Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Inc.,

Grateful Parents

We'd like to use this letter to thank the hundreds of Palatine folks who last week helped us find our two missing boys. Despite some of the year's most disagreeable weather — or perhaps because of it — neighbors, friends, police, village and school officials, Boy Scouts, Lions club members, and other Good Samaritans banded together to help in the search.

The chain phone calls from farmer to farmer throughout Palatine and nearby townships each urging the other to check his buildings and property; the scores of phone calls by Police Chief Meyer through which he set a pattern of police thoroughness; the hard working vigilance of our police and of neighboring communities; the typical loyalty of neighbor men who volunteered as searchers and of their wives who offered us invaluable comfort and help; the unquestioning volunteers who came to our aid by the hundreds; the resourcefulness of all those who organized the search with headquarters at the new grade school; the full cooperation of the bus line to help track down any possible lead; the unselfish sacrifice of volunteer firemen who stood by through the late hours and even loaned raincoats to searchers; the help of a local merchant who gave out flashlights to those who needed them; the almost legendary Scouting spirit which prompted the splendid turnout of Palatine Boy Scouts and their fine leaders; the calm comforting of the clergy; and the genuine sympathy and real concern of hundreds of others who both searched and stood waiting word that our sons had been found safe — all these will live forever in our memories.

The boys came through their adventure well and surely learned a lesson by it. They're sorry now for the trouble they caused and we feel sure the widespread response and concern for them will be an inspiration to both youngsters.

A special "thank you" goes, too, to the Palatine men who located the two 10-year olds in Park Ridge; another to the police of Park Ridge whose kindness and understanding made such an impression on the boys. And still another to Chief Frank Meyer for his untiring efforts and sympathetic help.

Last, but not least, one big special "thanks" to everyone who helped that night. Your thoughts and actions made last Thursday a real Thanksgiving Day for all of us.

Grateful Parents,
Palatine.

A Land Grab IS a Land Grab

The headlines in the Mount Prospect Herald of Friday, November 28, read: "Suburban Organization to fight Chicago Grab." The article describes the fight for Independence which the towns of Cook county (including Mount Prospect) are putting up to stop the grab that Chicago is attempting.

Mayor Pendleton of Mount Prospect is quoted in the article, "We will fight Chicago to the limit."

We heartily agree with fighting any land grab by one group against the wishes of those being taken in. We feel that the people of the suburban areas should rally behind their leaders and fight any such injustice.

However we are very much puzzled at the fact, that Chicago's taking over the suburbs, against their wishes, is considered a land grab but that it is permissable for Mount Prospect to take in the families on Rand road who do not wish to go into school district 57.

We, too, believe in fighting land grabs.

The families of

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Politics is a wonderful thing to be in, and I sometimes wonder why more people don't go all out for it.

You can call anybody anything, and get in the papers. In the last election, Eisenhower and Truman were both ornery low down dogs, and Stevenson was a red. There wasn't much choice of candidates. Either vote for a red or a dog.

I guess the thing the two political parties had in mind was that if you call a man a dog long enough, everyone will be watching to see him bark, bite or wag his tail.

THE ONLY trouble was that Truman couldn't think of enough things to call Eisenhower to make people hear him bark or wag his tail. He did plenty of name calling, but it wasn't bonafide, and the result was that Stevenson turned out to be the under dog.

There is a moral about this thing. If you have an enemy whom you would like to call a lot of names, and are afraid of getting arrested, just get him to run for office. Then the papers will not only print everything you want to call him, but some of them will rack their brains trying to figure out some names of their own. In a political election, everything goes, even to your personal life and financial rating.

I KNOW a couple of fellows I would like to see run for office, and I also have some mighty good names to call them. The only thing is, they're both smart; and according to what I read in the papers, you have to be pretty dumb about everything to run for office.

Anyway, the American people have a lot of fun with their elections.

Truman wasn't such a bad president. He left enough money in the treasury to buy paper to make up next year's budget on.

Ike won't be so bad either. If he gets stumped on any question, Mamie will help him out. And if he gets to feeling blue and despondent about the state of our affairs, there is always Truman to play the piano for him. Truman still wants to live in the White House.

Just Around The Corner

from PATTY McARDLE

WHAT a cold and blustery Thanksgiving day it was! An icy wind set the big, brown, maple trees to swaying and creaking and chased powdery flurries of snow around the corners of the solid, white barn. However, none of us minded the wintry weather, for, cozy and warm inside "Gamma" and "Gampa's" house, we were gaily chatting and anticipating a delicious Thanksgiving dinner.

Bob, Megan, Bridget and I left early that cold, grey morning, and by 10:30 a. m., were glad (especially I, sitting in the back seat, completely ignored by the car heater) to be turning into the driveway at Manapisu Farm. How cheerful the lovely, old lamp post looked with its harvest decoration of dried corn stalks and bright orange pumpkins. We pulled up in front of "Children's House" and quickly unloaded babies and baggage, while "Gamma" and "Gampa" hurried over from the house to greet us.

SINCE "CHILDREN'S HOUSE" is in the the process of being decorated, there is always some new touch to be seen. This time it was the freshly painted, flat black chairs for the kitchen-dining area . . . the perfect addition to the red and white, checked curtains and table cloth and the black, linoleum floor and white-shaded, black wrought iron, hanging lamp.

In the living room stood, invitingly a simply-designed, antique, cane rocker (certainly part of a grandmother's necessary equipment!)

Since "Mother" and "Papa" were expecting other guests to arrive shortly, we all went over to the main house. In the warm, pine paneled living room a crackling, newborn fire was blazing on the hearth, and at one end of the room, the Thanksgiving table, with its purple grape, crimson apple, orange and olive-green avocado-filled cornucopia, waited in readiness.

UNTIL OUR FRIENDS ARRIVED, Bridget lay on the warm floor playing with her rubber beads and being entertained by her Godfather and uncle, George, and Megan, with the help and interest of her Uncle Edward, again went through "Gamma's" bowl of last year's Christmas cards, delightedly admiring each one. "Mamma" and "Daddy" and "Gamma" and "Gampa" gathered in the charming country kitchen where the tantalizing smells of roasting turkey and dressing and cooking vegetables filled the air.

Shortly after noon, "Mother" and "Papa's" Chicago friends arrived. After a brief "catching up" on the family's activities, "Papa" announced the arrival to the table of the "king of birds"! To see before us such a feast of turkey and dressing, vegetables, salads, rolls and relishes, was to realize that we are the blessed and fortunate . . . we of this land of plenty, and we were thankful.

I WAS ANXIOUS to taste the two molded salads, both new recipes "Mother" was trying. One, a variation on the traditional cranberry theme, was a combination of crushed cranberries, tart apples and walnuts. The other was the familiar molded fruit salad. However, the flavor was greatly enhanced by the use of cloves and ginger, having been boiled in the fruit juice before the salad was prepared. Both salads were delicious!

For those of us who could still eat dessert, "Mother" had baked a pumpkin pie, and a divine mincemeat and apple pie, topped with brown sugar.

After dinner, we sat lazily talking and laughing. Then, since Bob and I had brought our new movie camera (our Christmas gift to each other which we couldn't wait until Christmas to open), we decided to record Bridget's first Thanksgiving.

MUCH TOO SOON the clear, cold night crept up on us and it was time to leave. Our goodbyes were tinged with a little sadness this time, as it will be a few months before we are all together again, and even then it will be without George. "Mother", "Papa" and George left Monday for Arizona to enroll George in one of the several fine colleges there. Edward will join them there for the Christmas holidays.

You see, Peg, George has had rheumatic fever and, upon the advice of the doctor, he should continue his schooling in a warm, dry climate, in order to facilitate a more rapid and complete recovery. What unexpected changes in course our lives take!

However, as we grow, we learn to accept those changes and to adjust to them and on Thanksgiving day and every other day, we will still thank God for our many, many blessings.

My love,
Patty.

● NO CHANCE

Once more Chicago and the "do gooders" and the folks who like to run the other fellow's business are planning to grab all the rest of Cook county and a lot of some of the neighboring counties under "a greater Chicago area authority" or something of the sort whereby all the water systems, sewer systems, police forces, etc. would be run by one central government.

Chicago has been trying that sort of thing for years. The editor tells me that twenty years ago I wrote a column and a half article in opposition to some such scheme. Well, we're not writing any column and a half this time. Maybe it's because we are twenty years older and don't get "het up" so easy, and maybe it's because we know that such a scheme hasn't a chance of becoming a reality.

Before they can make such a grab, they have got to have the consent of the state legislature and how are they ever going to get a home government minded legislature to pass such a nutty bill.

Then, too, we don't believe that Governor Bill Stratton, a great believer in home rule and always sympathetic to the suburbs and small towns, is going to sit idly by and see the suburban area of Cook county and other rural counties like Lake, DuPage and McHenry, some of his greatest strongholds politically, gobbled up by the Chicago sharpees.

No, we believe that the rural area around Chicago is perfectly safe from being gobbled up by Chicago. All they have to do is keep an eye on the "city slickers," watch their movements and when the time comes to fight them on the floor of the state legislature, give them the licking of their lives.

Just reduce the whole thing to a hard boiled political question, the city grabbers have no chance — the country folks have the legislative votes to beat them if they try to swallow us up, so why worry about it. Just keep an eye on "the slickers" and when the time comes, slap 'em down.

● BULLETS AND BULLS

Fred Oswald and his surveying crew had a merry time of it the other day when they were running some levels out along the creek south of Palatine. All of a sudden there was the crack of a rifle and the zing of bullets whistling around their heads.

The boys flopped into the weeds and looked around for the sniper. There he was up on the ridge near the corner of a house. The boys shouted to him and the only answer was the whistle of more bullets over their heads.

Finally, the sniper desisted in his shooting and the boys cautiously resumed their work when there was a bellow near them and a big bull was seen pawing up the earth, shaking his head or in other ways showing his displeasure at the trespassers on his domain.

The bull's antics, however, were more bluff than business and the boys were able to continue their work, but they agreed that it wasn't a pleasant experience. Fred said that one of his helpers, Johnny McAfee, was more afraid of that noisy bull than he was of the whistling bullets, but that as far as he personally was concerned, he'd take a chance on arguing it out with the bull any day in preference to those whistling bullets singing around his head.

● WINTER COMES

Winter, although not yet officially here, gave a good foretaste of what may be expected from now on when it sent a forerunner roaring in on that big wind of last week.

It was one of the most severe wind storms in the history of this area, and did a lot of damage to roofs, trees, and small buildings. Also, the temperature took a decided drop from the unusually warm November to down not so far from zero, and it really acted like old man winter had really put in his appearance.

This area, however, was lucky at that, for way down in Texas and other states far to the south, there were heavy snows with blocked roads, delayed trains and abandoned school schedules. Yes, the first blasts of winter let this part of the country off pretty easy at that.

● SANTA IS DUE

Santa Claus will arrive in Palatine in all his glory Saturday afternoon. His plane will land at route 53 and the northwest highway and he will be escorted into the business district by a giant parade of floats, bands, marching youngsters and autos.

Santa's arrival on Saturday will be the official opening of the Christmas season. His visit is being arranged for by the Palatine Chamber of Commerce and after his arrival, the Christmas shopping season will be on in full swing with all the merchants displaying the wealth of Christmas good they have put in for the season.

There will be no need to go elsewhere to shop this year. Palatine's large number of stores and shops are loaded with suitable Christmas gifts of every variety and at prices to suit every purse.

This should prove to be the greatest "shop at home" year in Palatine's history and it is to that end that the Chamber of Commerce has made such elaborate plans for the Christmas season.

● PICK UPS

A local merchant remarked one of those hot November days, "This weather is terrible for business."

"Just wait until the first blustery weather hits and watch them come" said a bystander. And then came the big blow and the cold weather, and how business did pick up. People were rushing in for caps, gloves, heavy jackets, overshoes, heavy socks, shirts and all manner of clothing to keep out the frigid blasts of a suddenly arrived winter — yes, business sure picked up with a rush when seasonable weather finally arrived.

● MILD?

December is here and some of the long range forecasters have it ticketed to be a mild month with temperatures well above normal for the entire month. Well, time will tell how accurate this long range forecast will be.

At any rate, we have the shortest day of the year this month, and after that one gets behind us, we are at least looking forward and hoping for better days to come.

Five Generations Surround Mrs. Mary Gosswiller, 83

Mrs. Gosswiller, nee Templer, is one of the pioneer families of the Long Grove area.

Des Plaines Considers New Street Lighting

Des Plaines city council heard many pros and cons on the $102,-531 street lighting project proposed for the business district. Property owners turned out to give their opinions of the plan.

It has been proposed that approximately 80 lights be placed on Miner, Lee, Pearson, Ellinwood, Center and Prairie. About half of the $102,531 would be paid for from state motor fuel tax funds and the other half by special assessment to the property owners on those streets. The way the plan stands now it will cost between $4 and $8 a front foot.

Helicopters Plan Passenger Flights

Three major helicopter operators in Los Angeles, Chicago and New York today are furnishing helicopter mail service to 92 American communities — and will, in the immediate future, expand this service to include the entire New York City metropolitan area.

These three operators, currently using a total of 13 rotor craft, already have carried more than 28 million pounds of mail while flying almost 2.5 million miles.

Next year, at least two of the operators — and possibly all three — plan to begin the nation's first scheduled helicopter passenger and freight service. Already armed with authority for carrying passengers and freight, Los Angeles Airways, Inc., and New York Airways, Inc., expect to begin passenger operations sometime during 1953. Helicopter Air Service, Inc., in Chicago has an application for authority to carry passengers, but as yet the Civil Aeronautics Board has not held hearings on it.

In The Future

Springs Cotton Mills of Lancaster, S. C., is preparing to market colored sheets containing chlorophyll. Didn't say why . . . For Christmas, golfers can buy a practice golfing gadget which reads distance and direction of each shot, made by walloping a ball hitched to the indicator by a stretchable seven-foot cord . . . A magnetic tuner-outer of extraneous noise, for users of hearing aids while they talk on the telephone, is promised by 1953 by one maker . . . By 1954 the air force will have a forging press in operation capable of exerting a squeezing force of 50,000 tons . . . A blue plastic container is expected to sell more auto storage batteries for Sun Oil company this winter . . . More industrial plants may be built on sandy sites now that a method of compacting such soil by vibration has been devised.

More Lean, Less Fat Sought In Pork Products

More lean meat and less fat in pork chops and other pork products are in the cards for meat consumers according to national live stock producer, the nation's leading live stock journal.

New hog grades adopted by the U. S. department of agriculture for both live hogs and their carcasses are designed to "lop off the fat" all the way from the hoglot to the kitchen table.

THE NEW EMPHASIS in hog production and marketing will be "keen on lean; hard on lard," the magazine points out.

This will result in the development of more "meat-type" hogs and higher quality pork products to meet the shift in consumer preference.

The basic problem lies in raising a 200 to 230 pound meaty barrow that will yield 51% of its dressed weight in the four lean cuts as against a fatter barrow yielding only 47% of lean cuts. About 66-2/3% of the hogs being marketed today do not fit present day requirements.

WITH LARD selling at 9 cents a pound wholesale and our market hogs dressing from 20% to 30% of lard, the entire swine industry is greatly depressed.

Such a situation may continue as long as hogs are sold by the pound. A few packers are paying premiums for top quality hogs. Most everyone in the hog industry agrees that hogs are being firmed up in a manner to make a more attractive product on the meat counter. Only in rare cases, however, has this increased product value been reflected in live hog prices.

But the new hog grades, while working no magic to solve all the industry's problems, do give producers, processors and consumers a common goal to work toward in bettering the industry.

HERE ARE the new live hog and carcass grades:

Choice No. 1—hogs with the minimum finish required to produce high quality pork. Carcasses have a high ratio of lean to fat and yield about 50% of carcass weight in hams, loins, picnics and Boston butts.

Choice No. 2—hogs that produce high quality pork but are slightly overfat and yield 45 to 48% of carcass weight in lean cuts.

Choice No. 3—hogs that produce high quality pork but are decidedly overfat. Carcasses yield a low proportion of lean cuts, normally less than 45% of weight.

Medium—hogs are those slightly underfinished. They produce flabby and slightly soft cuts of medium quality. Yield of lean cuts is high but the ratio of total lean to fat and bone is low.

Cull—decidedly underfinished hogs that produce carcasses of an inferior quality suitable only for processed meats.

Kill Unwanted Brush During Winter Months

Kill unwanted brush and woody plants during the winter months with a basal bark spray. Use one-half pound of 2,4, 5-T acid in three gallons of kerosene, fuel oil or diesel oil.

Spray this material on the base of the plant. Start at the ground, and circle the trunk with the spray to a height of 18 to 24 inches above the ground.

Satisfactory results are obtained only when the spray is applied heavily enough to start running down the bark.

Poultrymen Have Problems . . .

But Ventilation Helps Solve Big Ones

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Poultrymen, too, have problems. So let's worry with them for a few minutes while we discuss one of their biggest headaches—ventilation. And, that means more than a system capable of only changing the air in the poultry house regularly, as important as that may be. It must do other things as well, such as keeping the litter dry, holding the house temperature above 20 degrees Fahrenheit, and maintaining inside humidity below 75%.

Shown above is one type of ventilation system for poultry houses.

A ventilation system which will answer the farmer's requirements will save him time in cleaning eggs and changing litter; keep flocks healthy and laying satisfactorily. Also, it will protect the life of the poultry house by preventing the condensation of moisture on the walls and nail heads.

Stale poultry house air contains a heavy concentration of ammonia fumes . . . and 1,000 birds will deposit as much as 50 gallons of water in litter droppings every 24 hours. So let's see how both fumes and water can be removed while conserving a maximum of the heat given off by the chickens—the latter, a must, if we are to keep the house warm.

The motor-driven ventilation fan selected should be capable of removing 2 cubic feet of air per minute for each 5-pound bird in an uninsulated house. In warmer, insulated houses this fan capacity can be increased to 3 cfm. Two fans may be used in larger houses, with one of them being thermostatically controlled. One-fan systems operate continuously. With 2-fan systems, both fans operate continuously in mild weather, but the one connected to the thermostat shuts off automatically in cold weather. Fans should be installed near the ceiling.

Fresh air is brought into the house through inlet openings. These should be properly designed and correctly located. A simple baffle type inlet that directs air along the wall and down, toward and across the floor will work satisfactorily. Each intake should have an inside area of 60 square inches, with one intake installed for each 80 birds, or 400 pounds of fowl weight.

Here are some other tips for the poultryman: use a built-up litter of finely broken absorbent material; distribute the feeders and waterers over the largest possible floor area to prevent heavy concentrations of wet droppings in two or three areas.

Pushing 'Self-Help' And Farm Cooperatives Halt Communism

Pushing the Point Four program of "self-help" and strengthening farm cooperatives abroad can "stop the inroads of Communism."

So said D. W. Brooks, president of the national council of farmer cooperatives, at the annual meeting of the Illinois farm supply company in the Sherman hotel last week.

Brooks, who has traveled abroad several times, told this affiliated cooperative of the Illinois agricultural association that he considered a "large part of the world's troubles" to be agricultural.

"THEY CAN only be cured by agricultural people," he added, explaining how farmers cooperatives could help battle Communism abroad.

This can be understood if Americans comprehend the difference between "stomach Communism" and "ideological Communism," said Brooks, who also is general manager of the cotton producers association, Atlanta.

Stomach Communism is the appeal — and promise — given persons who are poverty-stricken and hungry. Communists, even if they can't deliver, promise them food, thus gaining a foothold.

"THE POINT Four program of self-help costs a pittance compared to Marshall plan arms aid," Brooks said. "It gives these backward people the know-how so they can help themselves.

"It gives them a chance to stay free."

Since the appeal of stomach Communism is to hungry people, Brooks explained, its appeal can be broken if the people are fed. And food production can be raised by agricultural know-how, as this country has proved.

The "farm revolution" in this country has meant that whereas a century ago 85 per cent of our population was needed to farm for the other 15 per cent, now the reverse is true — 15 percent of our citizens feed and clothe the rest of us.

And, added Brooks, food production has risen 44 percent over the 1935-39 average.

"FARMERS cooperatives have been at the forefront in this revolution," Brooks said. "Their methods have been active research, spreading information about others' research, and cutting production costs."

He pointed out that cooperatives abroad should serve the same purpose.

"Foreign cooperatives not only will stop the inroads of Communism," he said, "But will build a foundation of a capitalistic system."

"It is through cooperatives that small farmers are able to continue to own family-size farms to compete with large corporation and partnership-size farms.

"Certainly, the more farm owners you have, the more capitalists you have," he explained.

HE ADDED that the agricultural "lag" exists not only in Asia, where as many as 80 percent of the people go to bed hungry each night, but also exists in Europe.

"Economic conditions in England still are hopeless," he said, pointing out that Britons still are on tight food rations. Of meat and eggs, they get an average of only 20 cents' worth of meat and one egg a week.

Two Illinois 4-H'ers Tops in Achievement

State honors in 4-H Club Achievement which rank among the highest in Illinois club work were won this year by Velma Riley, 20, Griggsville, and Donald Linneman, 19, Arlington Heights.

Each of these two top Illinois 4-H Club members will be awarded a miniature statue symbolizing achievement by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago. The award program is conducted through the state 4-H home economics and agricultural club offices at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, Urbana, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture Extension Service.

Velma Riley — Donald Linneman

Velma, who has been in 4-H Club work for 11 years, is a junior in home economics at the University of Illinois. She has carried projects in foods, clothing and room improvement. For the past six years she has been junior club leader, and for three of the years the club had a 100 percent completion record.

Two other high 4-H honors won by Velma include a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in 1950 and one of the four Illinois delegates to National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., in 1951.

"These 11 years I have enjoyed very much and feel that I have gained much from them," Velma says. "They have been years which I will never forget. This year brings to a close my career in 4-H work. I feel that 4-H has really been a guiding light in my life and has truly contributed to my development as a family member, a career woman and as a citizen."

Donald, a nine year 4-H club member, lives in a commercial garden area and has a large project program in commercial garden, sheep, swine, poultry, dairy and crops. He had 27 acres of tomatoes, sweet corn and cucumbers on which he netted $3,122 this year. He raised over 100 head of hogs, had more than 700 broilers in his poultry project, raised eight head of purebred Dorset ewes, had two cows in production and three dairy heifers, and raised five acres of crops.

He was president of the Cook county 4-H Club federation this year, and for the past three years has been leader of the Junior Farmer 4-H club of 33 members. He reports that leading a 4-H club has brought him more satisfaction than any other achievement he has had in club work. He won a trip to National 4-H Club Congress in 1949, has served as a camp counselor and has taken part in several demonstration and judging contests.

Cannibalism Is Costly In Farm Flocks Here

Your hen flock will make more profits for you if they eat the mash and grain you provide rather than pick at each other.

S. F. Ridlen, extension poultry specialist at the Illinois College of Agriculture, says cannibalism results in fewer eggs and many times in the death of hens. Both results mean less income for you.

Most cases of cannibalism in farm flocks result from discomfort or dissatisfaction or both, Ridlen says. Some of the direct causes are overcrowding, idleness, blowouts, inadequate drinking and eating space, too close confinement, too few nests, the wrong kind of nests, floor laying and continuation of the picking habit from the growing period.

Tests show that cannibalism may in small part be due to underfeeding or to breeding background, according to the specialist. Since most of the causes are due to environment, best opportunity for control of the habit comes through good management.

Here are some things you can do to prevent birds from picking each other: Give them plenty of floor space, keep them busy by feeding alfalfa hay or some other similar feed, and remove those with blowouts immediately. Provide enough watering and eating space to keep the birds from having to wait in line, and give them plenty of fresh air with good ventilation.

Also provide enough nests and darken them. Ridlen says. Adjust perches on nests and feed hoppers high enough to keep birds on the floor from picking the vents of birds on perches. Install dropping pits. Do not overheat or overcrowd baby chicks. Debeaking can be a cure, but it needs to be done right.

Rotenone Rids Cattle Of Grub Menace

Your dairy cows and beef cattle will do better if they're not bothered with cattle grubs this winter and with heel flies next summer.

That's the reminder of Dr. N. D. Levine, animal parasite specialist of the University of Illinois college of veterinary medicine. For best results he suggests treating cattle with rotenone once a month from late December thru April.

Grubs can make cattle mighty uncomfortable during the winter, as they bore through the flesh of the cow's back and irritate the hide, Dr. Levine says. And in the summer, as heel flies, they frighten the cattle, causing them to run wildly around the pasture.

If you have a small herd, a good treatment is to dust each animal's back with a 1½ percent rotenone powder and rub it in. Or, if the herd is large, run the cattle one at a time through a runway, and use a high-pressure spray with 7½ pounds of 5 percent rotenone powder in 100 gallons of water.

Dr. Levine says rotenone is relatively inexpensive. The benefits derived from using it will more than compensate for its costs and the time spent in treating the cattle.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Under-the-Stairs Closet

THE wise use of waste space is the sign of an efficient home craftsman. Whether it's a basement corner, an offset in a room, or the space under a stairway, it's best to enclose it and make it dustproof and functional.

Until the closet shown in the illustration was installed, the space under the stairway was a catch-all that was untidy and a probable fire hazard. Its neat appearance now invites orderliness.

Creating such a closet is a rather simple operation with a modern building material like Masonite Presdwood. Panels of this material, one-quarter inch thick and four feet wide, go into place rapidly. They are nailed to a framework of lumber. The panels, lumber, nails and other materials needed are available at lumber yards.

With the Presdwood, the home craftsman can make a permanent, good appearing installation at a minimum of cost. Even the door can be built on the scene, using lumber framing and Tempered Presdwood for a durable wearing surface. Many leading manufacturers of flush panel doors are using these materials.

When there's home remodeling and partitioning, the wise craftsman today combines lumber and Masonite Presdwood for the best results and economy.

These panels take a beautiful paint finish, which may be applied either with a brush or roller. An undercoat and two finish coats are recommended.

Hens Are Their Own Good Record Keepers On Farms

Did you know that your hens are good record keepers? They record signs on their bodies to indicate their past production. Read these signs and use them to cull the poor producers.

Here's how to interpret the signs: As a hen produces, she loses the yellow color from her skin. This is the order in which the various parts bleach and the time required to bleach each part completely after production begins: Vent, 7 to 10 days; eye ring, 2 weeks; earlobe (if white), 3 weeks; beak, 6 weeks, front of legs, 18 weeks, heel of shanks, 20 to 24 weeks.

Pigment leaves the backs of the hocks and the tops of the toes last.

If, for example, your pullets have been in production 12 weeks, all of the above parts except the legs should be bleached. Even the legs should have lost a considerable amount of pigment. Cull the birds that show lots of yellow on their bodies.

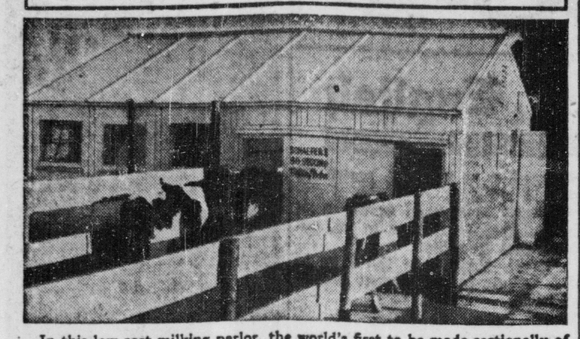
90-Second Milking!



In this low-cost milking parlor, the world's first to be made sectionally of Masonite Tempered Presdwood, cows are milked at an average of one every 90 seconds. Located on the William Schaefer farm near Conroy, Ia., the milking parlor is the "last word" in scientific construction. It was erected by five men in two days over a concrete foundation. Additional parlors are being mass-produced in the famous Amana Colonies, Homestead, Iowa.

Holstein Breeders To Convene In Aurora Dec. 11-12

The state convention of the Illinois Holstein-Friesian association, with a two-day feature packed program for both men and women, will open at the Leland Hotel in Aurora, Thursday, Dec. 11, continuing through Friday.

Over 500 delegates and visitors are expected to attend the annual convention, according to A. C. Thomson, president of the association, who will open the business sessions at 10:30 a.m. Thursday. A special feature of this early session will be a talk by Jack Countiss, sales manager of Pfister associated growers, on the subject "The Udder Side of the Cow." Robert J. Howard, fieldman, will also speak on "Coordination of Local Associations."

A luncheon for officers and directors of the local associations will be held Thursday noon.

WOMEN WHO will be in attendance at the convention have been singled out for preferential treatment with a special function planned Thursday noon at the Leland Hotel. Mrs. Leona Connery, famous lecturer known as the "Flying Grandmother of Aurora," will speak to the women of her recent foreign trip. Following the luncheon program the ladies will be escorted through the Aurora Beacon-News.

The afternoon session of the convention proper will be opened at 1 p.m. Following a welcome by President Thomson, the group will hear Donald McDowell, director of agriculture of the state of Wisconsin, speak on "Brucellosis Control in Wisconsin."

"Quality Milk" will be the subject of talk by Roy Yung, director of agriculture of the State of Illinois.

A break in the program will be provided by Ralph McKenzie with a musicale interlude.

Following will be reports of various officers and committee chairmen.

The day will be climaxed by a dinner-program at the Masonic Temple with the featured speaker, Dr. Ivan Karsakoff.

FRIDAY'S MEETING will be opened at 9 a.m. with reports of the secretary and treasurer, R. B. Howard of Dundee. Other reports will be given with the morning session climaxed by a talk from M. B. Nichols, "Experience with Holsteins in South America."

Luncheon will be followed by the election of new officers and meeting of directors.

At Orchestra Hall

The glamor of perhaps the most colorful of all countries—Mexico—will be brought to Chicago Monday evening in the color film which George Perkins, noted travel lecturer will present at Orchestra Hall.

This is the last in the unusual series of five Monday evening travelogues presented by George A. Kuyper this season.

Two distinguished musicians resident in the Chicago area, and the noted French cellist, Pierre Fournier, are prominently involved in this week's concerts of the Chicago symphony orchestra under Rafael Kubelik, at Orchestra Hall.

Fournier, whose debut in Chicago with the orchestra in the 1951-52 season was one of the highlights of the year, returns to perform the Haydn Cello Concerto in D Major at the midweek concert pair, Thursday evening, Dec. 11, and Friday afternoon, Dec. 12.

The two resident musicians are Irwin Fischer, who has been organist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra since 1944; and Manoah Leide-Tedesco, Italian-born composer.

Fischer, who lives in Evanston, is a pianist, composer, conductor, and organist. He recently was guest conductor of the Evanston Civic Orchestra.

Cabling Protects Trees Againts Winter Storms

There is much needless tree destruction each winter. Once foliage has fallen, too many home owners are inclined to forget about protecting their landscape. Actually, fair-sized trees should be secured against winter storms by adequate cabling.

Of course, leaf fall lightens the strain on trees. But a burden of sleet and ice will far exceed the weight of summer foliage, warns W. H. Parker, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert comany.

An amateurish cabling job is worse than no cabling at all, according to this authority. Proper placing of cables means proper balancing, which takes in many factors. These include knowing the proper sized cable to employ, proper size of lag hooks and proper fulcrums. Doing the job right calls for experience and ability to get around in the tree safely. Needless to say, few home owners have the know-how or agility to do the job correctly.

Cabling, when trees are leafless is a decided advantage. The tree man has unobscured vision and can place his cables more quickly and efficiently. Another asset is getting the services of the tree expert when he's not pressed with the rush of spring and summer chores.

Landscape friends that should get particular atention are silver maples and poplars, as well as other fast growing sorts. These are soft wooded and more susceptible to breakage. From the standpoint of structure, trees with trunks that divide into two or more main stems are most likely to split down under the stress of ice or winds. The tree man will know what mechanical help is needed.

Epilepsy Can Be A Sign Of Brain Irritation

The epilepsy seizure itself is only a sign of the trouble. The trouble is an irritation of the brain. The brain has many functions, and it has a part for each function. One part we think and learn with. One part has to do with seeing and hearing. We control muscles with or part. The kind of seizure a person has depends—to a large extent—on the part of the brain that has been mildly injured. This irritation can start before birth or anytime after. But in many persons with epilepsy, the cause of the trouble can't be found.

Lessons In .... English

by W. L. GORDON

Do not say, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a couple of children." The use of the numeral "two" is preferable.

Do not say, "Who did you give the money to?" Say, "Whom did you give the money to?" Or, "To whom did you give the money?"

"Last" refers to the final member in a series. "Latest" refers to the most recent in time. Thus: "Here is the latest bulletin." "It will not be the last."

A "confidant" is one to whom secrets are confided (accent last syllable). "Confident" means having trust or belief (accent first syllable).

Do not say, "Carefully baiting the hook, a large fish was landed." This suggests that the fish did the baiting. It is much better to say, "Carefully baiting the hook, I soon landed a large fish."

Avoid the oft-used expression "bride-to-be." Inasmuch as the true meaning of "bride" is a woman newly married, or about to be married, the expression "bride-to-be" could be construed as "the woman-about-to-be-married-to-be."

Words Often Mispronounced

Irrevocable. Accent second syllable, not the third.

Inopportune. Secondary accent is on second syllable, principal accent on last syllable.

Disaster. Pronounce the first s as z.

Agenda (memoranda of items to be considered at a meeting). Pronounce a-jen-da, both a's unstressed, e as in men, accent on second syllable.

Epoch. Pronounce ep-ok, e as in set preferred, o as in on, accent first syllable.

Divert. Pronounce the i as in did, not as in die, accent second syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Colossal; two o's, two l's, two s's. Stature (height); statute (law). Focus, ones; focussing, two s's. Corporal (non-commissioned army officer); corporeal (physical). Elementary; ary, not ery. Pollution; two l's.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Ameliorate; to relieve; to make better. "His benevolence has helped to ameliorate the lot of thousands of people."

Disparage; to bring discredit upon; to speak slightingly of. "I do not wish to disparage his good deeds."

Inapplicable; not fit or suitable to be applied. "Your suggestions are inapplicable to this emergency."

Substantiate; to establish the truth of; verify. "Your story substantiates what I have been saying."

Stigma; any mark of infamy or disgrace; stain caused by dishonorable conduct. "He could not bear the stigma of defeat."

Vacillate; to fluctuate in mind or opinion. "When our decision is made, we must not vacillate."

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. How does one select the correct implement to use at a formal dinner?

A. Usually you need merely remember that you are to take the outside—that is, the farthest from the plate—spoon or fork first. If the pieces have not been laid in this order, the fault is that of the person who set the table, and not yours. If you are in doubt, wait until your host or hostess has picked up his or her implement, then you do likewise.

Q. Who are correctly asked to serve as pallbearers at a funeral?

A. Six or eight men who are close friends of the deceased. Members of the immediate family are never chosen, as their place is with the women of the family.

Q. Is it proper for a divorced woman to continue to wear her engagement and wedding rings?

A. She may if she wishes. Usually, however, she will discard at least the wedding ring.

Q. Will you please enumerate the bridegroom's expenses for a wedding?

A. Engagement ring, wedding ring, wedding gift for his bride, his bachelor dinner, marriage license, personal gifts to his best man and ushers, boutonnieres for his attendants, clergyman's fee, and the honeymoon trip.

Q. When one is in the presence of another person, and a telegram or message is delivered to one, which should be read at once, what should one do?

A. Say, "Will you excuse me, please," and read it.

Q. Should a pitcher, or any other receptacle with a handle, always be passed to a person with the handle towards that person?

A. Yes, always.

Q. Is it proper for the bride to wear her engagement ring to the wedding, and have the bridegroom put the wedding ring above it?

A. No; the engagement ring belongs above the wedding ring. On her wedding day, a bride either leaves her engagement ring at home or wears it on her right hand until after the ceremony.

Q. When drinking any kind of refreshment at a social affair, is it proper to leave a small portion of the drink in the glass?

A. No; one is perfectly privileged to drink it all. But avoid throwing back the head or turning the glass upside down to drain that last little drop.

Q. Is it proper to use a visiting card for writing one's regrets to a formal invitation.

A. No. If an answer is requested on the invitation, it must be answered on one's personal stationery.

Des Plaines Theater Guild 'Papa Is All' To Open Wednesday Night

The third Des Plaines theater guild production, "Papa is all," opens at Rand Park auditorium next Wednesday, Dec. 10, and runs through Saturday evening, the 13th.

The play portrays the modern trends in life, and how it affects the daughter and son and their relationship with today's world, compared to the strict teachings of the Mennonite religion. To those who can remember back to the days of the first telephone, washing machine and their advent upon modern life the play will have memories and the basis of quite a few chuckles.

The part of Mama will be portrayed by Lucille Roden; Papa by Edgar Meyers; the son Jake, Donald Peggins; the daughter, Cleon (Lee) Fulle; the gossip, Ilona Haizeman and the Trooper by Patrick Paddock, the last two making their first appearance with the guild.

Students Should Get Social Security Cards

Christmas vacation time will soon be here. Those planning to work during the pre-Christmas rush will need a social security number, according to Miss Ellen McGuire, manager of the Northwest Chicago field office.

An application for a new card or a duplicate can be secured at the 5306 W. Lawrence ave., Chicago, field office. Students living out of Chicago may obtain applications for numbers from their local post office. They should fill it out and mail it to the Chicago office. Those needing cards should file now and avoid the rush.

'Bangle Day' In Schools To Fete Christmas Seals

At least 140 suburban Cook county schools will participate in "Bangle Day" to help publicize the 1952 Christmas Seal campaign.

During the week of December 8, the schools will feature programs on tuberculosis, and students will be instructed in the importance of caring for their health.

Each youngster in the first through third grades will receive a Santa Claus button, and students in the other grades will be given "Bangle pins" in the form of the double-barred cross, international symbol of the fight against tuberculosis.

Pupils will be given an opportunity to contribute to the Christmas Seal campaign but will receive buttons and bangles regardless of whether or not they contribute.

Stephan, and speakers will include Noble Puffer, Miss Lucy Driscoll and LeRoy Knoeppel. Excavate For Another Catholic School In Des Plaines

More than 300 persons gathered for the ground breaking ceremony of the $500,000 St. Stephen's parish and school on the south side of Des Plaines. Several men of the parish presented a golden shovel for the occasion to Father Hanley, pastor of St. Stephens. The first spade-full of dirt was removed by Father Corkery, great benefactor of St. Stephen's, who was also one of the principal guests. It is hoped that the school will be ready by September of next year.
